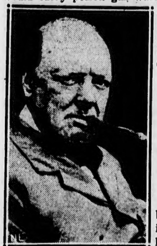
Britain Prepared To Wage Poison Gas War Churchill Warns Nazis

By J. WES GALLAGHER

LONDON, May 11.—(AP)—In a grim, fighting speech in the lull before the "hurricane bursts" of summer, Prime Minister Churchill last night warned Hitler that Britain would carry poison gas warfare "far and wide" over Germany if he dares use it against Russia, and forecast a mighty British - American bombing offensive against Germany.



Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill

Grim in his predictions of "misery and slaughter" for Germany, the Prime Minister nevertheless was confident and optimistic and brought what he said was "a message of good cheer" for Britain and her Allies.

Declaring that the "awful balances" had finally turned in the United Nations' favor, he predicted that "British and American seapower will grip and hold the Japanese" and their overwhelming air power eventually will bring her low.

"There, however, is one serious matter which I must mention to you," he said. "The Soviet government have expressed to us the view that the Germans in the desperation of their assault may make use of poison gas against the armies and peoples of Russia.

"We are ourselves firmly resolved not to use this odious weapon unless it is used first by the Germans. Knowing our Hun however, we have not neglected to make preparations on a formidable scale.

"I wish to make it plain we shall treat unprovoked use of poison gas against our Russian ally exactly as if it were used against ourselves, and if we are satisfied that this new outrage has been committed by Hitler we will use our great and growing air superiority in the west to carry gas warfare on the largest possible scale far and wide against military objectives in Germany."

The wording of Mr. Churchill's warning made it appear that British retaliation is only a matter of satisfactory evidence to prove charges that the Russians already have made.

His statement was made a little more than 24 hours after Tass, Soviet news agency, had distributed for the first time a dispatch reporting that the Germans had used poison gas on the Crimean front, apparently in an experimental way.

USED GAS MINES

This dispatch said: "According to a report from Krasnador on May 7, in operations on the Crimean front, German troops used several

Resigns

Hon. P. J. Cardin, minister of public works and minister of transport in the federal cabinet, who has resigned over his inability to support the government on its compulsory service policy.

CARDIN RESIGNS

Minister Of Transport Opposes Conscription For Overseas Service

OTTAWA, May 11.—(CP)—Resignation of Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, minister of transport and public works, was announced in the House of Commons today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Mr. King read correspondence in which Mr. Cardin explained that his resignation was due to his inability to support the government on its compulsory service policy.

Mr. Cardin, in his letter of resignation, said he could see no reason why the government should—so soon after the plebiscite vote—introduce a measure which carried with it the principle of conscription for service overseas.

By GRANT DEXTER

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, May 11.—Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, minister of transport, and senior French-Canadian minister, has resigned from the government. He is opposed to conscription for overseas service.

This morning at his own invitation he met the Liberal members from the Montreal area, and while it is possible that he may endeavor as the spokesman for these 35 or 40 members to present to Mr. King a declaration of conditions upon which he will return to the ministry, the majority view in inner government circles is that Mr. Cardin is out and will stay out.

Parliament Hill this morning fairly seeths with rumors as the greatest political crisis since 1917 develops. Mr. Cardin's resignation may be but the first of several. Undoubtedly it means that 30 or more Quebec Liberals will bolt on conscription. An historic and bitter debate on the amendments to the National Mobilization Act is certain, and these amendments will probably be moved on first reading by Mr. King this afternoon.

But it is more than possible that the Cardin resignation will be the one and only loss to the government and that the crisis which raged all

CHUNGKING, China, May 11. — (BUP) — Japanese troops caught in a trap on the Burma-China front tonight were reported evacuating the border town of Wanting because of heavy losses and the interception of their reinforcements by the Chinese.

A Chinese communique said that enemy reinforcements moving northward in Burma in an effort to break the trap, drawn tight by Allied troops, had been halted in fierce fighting that still is in progress.

As a result of the failure of the reinforcements to break through, military sources reported later, the Japanese in the trap along the Burma-China border were forced to fall back from Wanting where they originally had pushed into Southern China. There losses were said to have been too heavy for them to remain in the town.

SHUT "BACK DOOR"

More than 4,500 Japanese troops have been killed in the death trap closed upon them by the Chinese, who slammed shut the back door to China and sent the invaders reeling back southward from Chefang, 24 miles inside Chinese territory.

While one strong Chinese force drove down upon the Japanese mechanized spearhead of invasion from the north, another force drove up from the south along the Burma Road, from recaptured Maymyo and threatened Mandalay toward Lashio and the Yunnan border.

Today's Chinese communique said that the Japanese "rescue force" had struck swiftly northward, aiming at breaking the Chinese ring of encirclement and saving the Japanese invasion spearhead from complete disaster.

"However the fresh column was intercepted by the Chinese and heavy fighting is going on," the communique said.

It was acknowledged today that the Japanese captured the Burmese town of Myitkyina on Friday in an attack from Bhamo, northwest of Lashio. A Japanese column around Bhamo was said to be facing annihilation today after the severing of its communication lines.

From ancient Mandalay to mountainous Chefang, counter-attacking forces pressed a ruthless campaign of annihilation, completely isolating one enemy column and tightening a vise on the survivors of another.

Bill Introduced In House Of Commons By Prime Minister

OTTAWA, May 11.—(CP)—A bill to amend the National Resources Mobilization Act, removing the ban on compulsory service outside the Dominion, was introduced in the House of Commons today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Purpose of the amendment, Mr. King said, was to give the government "the same freedom of decision and action with respect to the method of raising men for military service overseas which, in the recent plebiscite, the people requested, and which they said they desired the government to possess."

The amendment deletes section 3 of the act which contains the clause which restricted the government from calling up men for military service in any theatre of war outside the Dominion.

When the prime minister had finished his statement on the bill, Karl Homuth (Con., Waterloo South) said: "Then the government takes full responsibility for it."

Mr. King made no reply.

When speaker Glen called the bill for first reading Liguori Lacombe (CDN., Laval-Two Mountains) called: "On division!"

Contains Only Remaining Restriction

"Section three contains the one remaining restriction on the government's freedom of action in all aspects of the government's war effort," the prime minister said.

Mr. King said the National Resources Mobilization Act was "enabling legislation," and its use had been the prerogative of the government in the light of relevant circumstances.

"This will remain true of the unrestricted powers which the amendment, if enacted, would afford," the prime minister added.

He said the government could have proceeded by order-in-council under the War Measures Act "to bring existing legislation into conformity with the will of the people as expressed in the vote on the (manpower) plebiscite."

CONSIDER ALL ASPECTS

But by proceeding with a bill "the government is providing members of parliament, before any amendment to the National Resources Mobilization Act is made, the fullest opportunity of considering the effect of every aspect of the amendment."

Mr. King recalled that when he placed the plebiscite policy before the people he had emphasized that it was desirable to remove any restriction or any appearance of restriction upon the powers of the government to effect a total war effort.

Section 3 was included in the Mobilization Act when it was passed in 1940 because of the pledges given the people that there would be no conscription for service overseas.

"By their vote in the plebiscite the people have expressed their readiness to have the sole remaining restriction upon the government's freedom and decision of action, removed.

"The removal of section 3 of the National Resources Mobilization Act is, in other words, the logical consequence of the vote on the plebiscite.

64 PER CENT AFFIRMATION

Mr. King coupled his statement on the bill with a comment on the plebiscite held April 27 in which the people were asked: "Are you in favor of releasing the government from any obligation arising out of any past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service?"

The prime minister said that with returns "all but complete" the vote was more than 2,926,856 affirmative and more than 1,618,730 negative, or 64 per cent. affirmative and 36 per cent. negative.

"The total number of votes cast on the plebiscite is an impressive demonstration of the importance which the electors of Canada attach to giving to the government a free hand at a time of war," Mr. King said.

"The vote was taken in a democratic fashion. It will be recognized throughout the country that, in a democracy, the will of the majority should prevail. . . .

"Conscription was not the issue. The government did not ask the people to say whether or not conscription for overseas service should be adopted.

"With respect to the issue of conscription the result can only rightly be construed as leaving to the government and to parliament entire freedom to deal with that question on its merits."

Increase For Grain Acreage Near Million

Increase of nearly 1,000,000 acres in the estimated acreage to be sown to grains in Alberta this year is indicated in an agricultural report prepared recently by the the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and released here Monday by the provincial agricultural extension service.

Total estimated acreage to be sown to grain this year is 12,067,500 as compared to 11,152,900 acres actually sown in 1941, an increase of 914,600 acres.

Largest estimated increase is for flaxseed, the figure forecast for 1942 being 197,000 acres, or an increase of 50 per cent of the actual total sown last year of 131,000 acres.

BARLEY UP

Next largest estimated increase is in barley, the survey indicating that 2,492,000 acres of this grain will be sown in Alberta this year, a jump of 40 per cent as compared to a total of 1,543,000 actually sown last year.

This estimate follows an appeal made to farmers by agricultural authorities this year to increase the amount of barley acreage this year for livestock feeding purposes, and also to sow more flax seed for vegetable oil. Flax is regarded as the main source of vegetable oil to meet the loss in imports of this product due to the war.

COMPARATIVE TOTALS

Estimated total acreages for grains this year and the amount actually sown last year follow, totals being given in that order: Spring wheat, 6,287,000, 6,481.000; oats, 3,219,000, 2,799,000; barley, 2,160,000, 1,543.000; all rye (spring and fall), 161,800, 160,100; flaxseed. 197,000, 131,000; mixed grains, 42,700, 38,800.

Check Reveals Nazis Intend To Use Poison Gas

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE

LONDON, May 11—(BUP)—Prime Minister Churchill gave his gas-for-gas warning to Adolf Hitler yesterday after a cross check had convinced Allied leaders that Germany intended to use poison gas in a last, desperate attempt to crush Russia, responsible informants said today.

So convincing was evidence received from the continent, diplomatic informants said, that Allied leaders decided Britain should move to place upon Germany the responsibility for the start of gas warfare, and warn Germans that they, in the end, would pay bitterly.

Beattie

It was believed possible that Germany might start an offensive against Russia with gas or use it only as a climatic weapon if other means of warfare failed, but there seemed conviction that

U.S. Subs Sink Three Jap Ships

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—The United States navy department announced today that U.S. submarines in the western Pacific had sunk a Japanese destroyer and two cargo ships, one of them a naval auxiliary.

A communique said the sinkings were not related to last week's naval clash in the Coral Sea.

These three sinkings raise the toll of Japanese ships, both naval and commercial, taken by United States submarines to 42 sunk, 12 probably sunk, and 11 damaged. Only four days ago, on May 7, submarines were reported to have sunk three commercial vessels, including a medium sized tanker.

Prime Minister Churchill's warning to Adolf Hitler against the use of poison gas in this most terrible of all wars, has brought the dreaded possibility officially into the open.

Churchill would scarcely have brought the subject up in a world-wide broadcast unless he sensed the danger of a renewal of gas warfare and hoped to forestall it. His statement was both a warning and a challenge. It was based on information from the Soviet government that it expects the Germans to use gas in a desperate assault on Russia.

Churchill then dared Hitler to try it, and declared Britain is prepared and will carry air-borne gas warfare "far and wide" into Germany. He made the point that Bri-

Fishing Season Will Be Open Next Saturday

Trout fishing season in the Edmonton district and other parts of Alberta will open Saturday, May 16, according to an announcement Monday by officials of the game branch of the provincial lands and mines department.

For trout, grayling and Rocky Mountain whitefish the season will be open from May 16 to Sept. 15, inclusive, on the North Saskatchewan river and its tributaries, and the Red Deer river and its tributaries.

The season for the same fish will be from June 1 to Oct. 15, inclusive, on the Athabasca river and its tributaries.

LAKE FISHING

South of and including the Bow river and its tributaries the season for the fish mentioned is from June 1 to Oct. 15, inclusive. Fishing on Kananaskis and Spray likes, west of Calgary, will be open from June 16 to Oct. 15, inclusive.

The lake trout season is May 16 to Sept. 15, inclusive.

It was reported that Federal approval of certain angling regulations is being awaited, and it is expected that announcement of these will be made soon.

IN CORAL SEA

21 Jap Vessels Sunk Or Damaged

By The Canadian Press

The grand total of Japanese ships sunk or crippled in the battle of the Coral Sea and its aerial sequel mounted today to 21, with bomb hits during the week-end on two submarines, a seaplane tender and a tanker.

Continuing victory over Japanese seapower on the northeastern flank of Australia and the supply line to that continent-base of the United Nations strengthened the belief it could be held as a concentration point for the eventual counter-offensive against Japan although the danger had not yet passed.

Competent observers at Allied headquarters in Australia, stressing the conservatism of the total claims against the Japanese, expressed belief the official summary of the sea battle, when it is issued, might include additional Japanese transport losses.

EXPEDITION BEGINNING

The sinking of two "transports or supply ships" and damaging of two have been listed in communiques so far.

In line with Allied restraint in interpreting the battle of the Coral sea, Sir Keith Murdoch of the Melbourne Herald said the engagement was with "a comparatively light Japanese naval force, not against the main Japanese fleet."

"What must be realized," he added, "is that a large Japanese expedition is beginning."

93 Enemy Planes Bagged Or Damaged In Malta Assaults

CAIRO, May 11. — (BUP) — A communique announced toady that British fighter planes and anti-aircraft guns shot down or badly damaged 93 Axis planes over Malta Sunday and today. Savage enemy attacks were renewed on the most heavily bombed spot in the world.

PICTURE RECORD

500 Planes Participated In Big Coral Sea Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11 — (AP) — To photographers witnessing the struggle from the vantage point of high-flying American bombers, the battle of the Coral Sea presented a picture of 500 planes in endless combat, of Japanese warships manoeuvring desperately to escape attack.

This stirring scene was described in a Melbourne broadcast quoting Norman Stockton, a war correspondent who saw the photographic record of the engagement brought back by the bomber crews.

"At least 500 planes took part. Both sides used torpedo carriers and dive bombers.

"During the course of battle the sky was completely cloudless. One astounding photograph shows six Japanese warships, including the two doomed aircraft carriers, weaving a pattern of white circles against the background of deep blue sea, each Japanese ship dodging American bombs in different directions, each frantically attempting to escape destruction.

"In an earlier picture, the doomed aircraft carrier is seen making a complete circle of 360 degrees in an effort to avoid the bombs. The speed at which the Japanese ships are travelling in their effort to avoid the Allied planes is shown by the huge white wakes of foam, almost as large as the ships themselves, which they are trailing behind them."

GRANDSTAND POSITIONS

The Melbourne radio said it was informed by Stockton that the photographs were taken by United States bombers "returning from an independent mission when they observed the battle."

"They took up grandstand positions at 18,000 feet to make what is probably the most astounding photographic scoop on record."

British Experts Sabotage Power Station Of Norwegian Railroad

STOCKHOLM, May 11.—(AP)—British electrical experts were reported today to have sabotaged the Tramshams railway south of Trondheim after they had been smuggled into German-occupied Norway.

The railway—Norway's first electrified line—is between the large sulphur mine at Orkla and the sea.

The Britons were reported to have rendered the guard of the transformer at Bordshaug harmless, and then to have blown up the big station. The transportation now is by old steam locomotives.

Rumors from the neighborhood said the guard was found with a 1,000 crown note in his pocket.

Premier Warns British Air Force To Retaliate If Gas Used On Soviets

mines with poison gas. A check-up has shown that the poison gas affects respiratory organs and disables men."

Speaking on the second anniversary of the tremendous offensive of tanks and dive-bombers which Hitler loosed through France and the low countries in 1940, Mr Churchill made only a passing reference to Britain's relations with Vichy upon which he had been expected to deal heavily.

FELT A SHIVER

Disclosing that the decision to occupy the French Island of Madagascar in the Indian ocean had been made three months ago and that the expedition was two months on the way, he said that in the interval he had felt a "shiver" every time he thought of what might happen through the "dishonorable and feeble drifting or connivance" of the Vichy regime.

Madagascar would be held in trust for the French, he said.

Coyly, Mr. Churchill referred to demands for a continental invasion and said: "Naturally I shall not disclose what our intentions are, but there is one thing I will say. I welcome the militant and aggressive spirit of the British nation so strongly shared across the Atlantic Ocean.

And for those most strongly demanding that Britain take the offensive he offered the declaration: "We must not fail them either in daring or in wisdom."

But certainly, he said, "a British and presently an American bombing offensive against Germany will be one of the principal features in this year's world war."

TO STRIKE HARD

Now is the time, he declared, to strike hard at the "foundation of the whole enormous German invasion of Russia, now while the German armies will be bleeding and burning up their strength against the 2,000-mile Russian line and when the news of casualties by the hundreds of thousands is streaming back to the German Reich.

"Now is the time to bring home to the German people the wickedness of their rulers by destroying under their very eyes the factories and seaports on which their war effort depends."

Already, he said, Hitler is mingling threats and "whinings" in appeals to British public opinion to put a stop to Royal Air Force bombing raids—these "severe forms of warfare."

But, he added, "those days are gone" when Hitler propaganda films showed big bombers being loaded up and the smoke and dust of ruined cities as object lessons to prospective victims of conquest.

OTHER WAY AROUND

"Now it is the other way around." Mr. Churchill said. "We are in a position to carry into Germany many times the tonnage of high explosives which he can send here."

He declared the R.A.F. has a list of German cities to be dealt with in the same manner as the Baltic ports of Luebeck and Rostock and he urged Germans to flee the coming hail of bombs by leaving the munitions plants and "go out into the field and watch the home fires burning from a distance."

After saying that Nazi losses in men killed in Russia already had exceeded the total number of Germans killed in the last war—placed at 1,773,700—and that even yet there are no signs of the masses of men Hitler must get in position to start his vaunted offensive, Mr. Churchill concluded with a passage markedly confident as compared with his last broadcast when he had to announce the fall of Singapore:

"Therefore tonight I give you a message of good cheer.

"You deserve it and the facts endorse it.

"But be it of good cheer or be it of bad cheer it will make no difference to us. We shall drive on to the end and do our duty, win or die."

Turning to the Pacific, he said he had "No doubt tonight that British and American seapower will grip and hold the Japanese and overwhelming air power will lay them low."

In a reference to the Battle of the Coral Sea he said that the Japanese "Can ill afford losses such as those they have sustained," and added: "So far we have no detailed accounts but it is obvious from the lies which the Japanese felt compelled to tell of sinking of battleships of the Warspite class that a most vigorous and successful battle has been fought by the United States and Australian forces."

In a dramatic review of the days of nearly two years ago when "all the world," even our best friends, thought our end had come," Mr Churchill referred to the "Fatal surrender of the men of Bordeaux," and to "Mussolini, the Italian miscalculator" who "thought he saw his chance of a cheap, easy triumph and rich plunder."

In answer to his own question "Where are we now?" he said:

"As in the last war we are moving through many reverses and defeats to a complete and final victory.

"We have only to endure and persevere to conquer.

"Now we are no longer unarmed. We are well armed.

"Now we are not alone. We have mighty allies. . . . There can only be one end. When it will come or how it will come I cannot tell. . . .

"As has happened before in our island history, by remaining steadfast and unyielding—stubborn if you will—against a continental tyrant we reached the moment when the tyrant made a fatal blunder. . . . Even Hitler makes mistakes sometimes."

The Russians, "like us, were resolved never to give in. They poured out their blood upon their native soil" and "sustained losses which no other country or government has ever borne in so short a time," Mr. Churchill said.

SECOND BLUNDER

Then, he added, "Hitler made his second grand blunder. He forgot about the winter. There is a winter, you know, in Russia."

Hitler, he said, "must have been very loosely educated" to have forgotten about the Russian winter.

"So besotted is this man," Mr. Churchill continued, "in his lust for blood and conquest, so blasting is the power he wields over the lives of Germans, that he even blurted out the other day that his armies would be better clothed and his locomotives better prepared for their second winter in Russia than they were for the first.

"There was an admission about the length of the war that struck a chill into German hearts as cold as the icy winds of Russia."

In a glance at the Pacific situation, he said that at the start the "pent up, saved up resources of Japan were bound to prevail in the far eastern theatre.

"But the strength of the United States, expressed in units of modern war power, actual and potential, is alone many times greater than the power of Japan.

"And we also will make our contribution to the final defeat and punishment of this ambitious and greedy nation."

Time will be needed for the true strength of the United States to become manifest, he said, but the laying low of Japan "would come to pass very much sooner should anything happen to Hitler in Europe."

Text Of Prime Minister Churchill's Speech

LONDON, May 11.—(CP)—Following is a partial text of Prime Minister Churchill's address Sunday:

I have served you for two years today as the King's first minister. Therefore I thought it would be a good thing if I should talk to you on a broadcast to look back a little on what we have come through, to consider how we stand now and to peer cautiously but at the same time resolutely into the future . . .

The tremendous period through which we have passed has certainly been full of anxieties and exertions. It has been marked by many misfortunes and disappointments.

At this time two years ago the Germans were beating down Holland and Belgium by unprovoked, brutal, merciless aggression and very soon there came upon us the total defeat of France and the fatal surrender of the men of Bordeaux

CHEAP TRIUMPH

Mussolini, the Italian miscalculator, thought he saw his chance of a cheap and easy triumph of rich plunder. He struck in the back a dying France and at what he believed was a doomed Britain.

All the world, even our best friends, thought our end had come.

It fell to me to express the sentiments and resolves of the British nation in that supreme crisis of its life. That was an honor far beyond any dreams or ambitions I had nursed, and one that cannot be taken away.

For a whole year after the fall of France we stood alone, keeping the flag of freedom flying and the hopes of the world alive.

CONQUERED ITALIANS

We conquered the Italian empire. We destroyed or captured almost all of Mussolini's African army. We liberated Abyssinia. We have so far successfully protected Palestine, Syria, Persia, and Iraq from German designs. We suffered grievous reverses in going to the aid of the heroic Greeks. We bore unflinchingly many heavy blows abroad, and still more in our cities at home.

And all this time, cheered and helped by President Roosevelt and the United States, we stood alone, neither faltering nor flagging.

Where are we now?

Can anyone doubt if we, worthy of it as we shall be, will have our future in our hands?

As in the last war, we are moving through many reverses and defeats to complete and final victory.

ONLY TO ENDURE

We have only to endure and persevere to conquer.

Now we are no longer unarmed We are well armed.

Now we are not alone. We have mighty allies . . . There can only be one end. When it will come, or how it will come, I cannot tell . . .

As has happened before in our island's history, by remaining steadfast and unyielding—stubborn if you will—against a continental tyrant, we reached a moment when the tyrant made a fatal blunder . . .

HITLER'S MISTAKES

Even Hitler makes mistakes sometimes. In June last, without the slightest provocation and in breach of a pact of non-aggression he invaded the lands of the Russian people.

At the time he had the strongest army in the world, trained in war, flushed with incredible, unbroken success and equipped with limitless munitions and the most modern weapons. He also had secured to himself the advantages of surprise and treachery . . .

Russians under their warrior chief Stalin sustained losses which no other country or government ever has borne in so short a time and lived. But they, like us, were resolved never to give in. They poured out their blood upon their native soil. They kept their faces to the foe.

From the very first day when they were attacked, when no one could tell how things would go, we made a brotherhood with them and a solemn compact to destroy Nazidom and all its works.

Then Hitler made his second grand blunder. He forgot about the winter. There is a winter, you know, in Russia.

For a good many months the temperature is apt to fall very low. There is snow, and all that. Hitler forgot about this Russian winter. He must have been very loosely educated. We all heard about it at school, but he forgot it.

WINTER CAME

I never made such a bad mistake as that. So the winter came and fell upon his ill-clad armies and with the winter came the valliant Russian counterattacks.

No one can say with certainty how many millions of Germans already have perished in Russia and its snows—certainly more than were killed in the whole 4¼ years of the last war.

So besotted is this man in his lust for blood and conquest, so blasting is the power he wields over the lives of Germans, that he even blurted out the other day that his armies would be better clothed and his locomotives better prepared for their second winter in Russia than they were for the first.

There was an admission about the length of the war that struck a chill into German hearts as cold as the icy winds of Russia. . . .

RUSSIANS STRONGER

Certain it is that the Russian armies are stronger than they were last year, that they have learned by hard experience to fight the Germans in the field, that they are well equipped and their constancy and courage unquenched.

That is what is in front of Hitler.

He leaves behind him a Europe starving and in chains, a Europe in which his execution squads are busy in a dozen countries every day, a Europe which has learned to hate the Nazi name as no name ever has been hated in the history of mankind, a Europe ripe for revolt whenever opportunity comes.

But this it not all he left behind. We are on his tracks, and so is the United States. Already the Royal Air Force has set about him. A British and presently an American bombing offensive against Germany will be one of the principal features in this year's world war.

Now is the time to use our increasingly superior air force to strike hard and continually at the home front in the Germany from which so much evil has leaped out upon the world and which is the foundation of the whole enormous German invasion of Russia.

Now, while the German armies will be bleeding and burning up their strength against the 2,000-mile Russian line and when news of casualties by the hundreds of thousands is streaming back to the German Reich. Now is the time to bring home to the German people the wickedness of their rulers by destroying under their very eyes the factories and seaports on which their war effort depends.

German propaganda has been appealing to British public opinion to put a stop to these severe forms of warfare. . . .

Herr Hitler himself has not taken at all kindly to this treatment and he has been good enough to mingle terrible threats with his whinings. . . .

Herr Hitler has even called into question the humanity of these grim developments of war. What a pity this conversion did not take place before he bombed Warsaw or massacred 20,000 Dutch folk in defenceless Rotterdam or wreaked his crual vengeance upon the open city of Belgrade.

In those days he used to boast that for every ton of bombs we dropped on Germany he would drop 10 times or even 100 times as many on Britain. . . .

But now it is the other way round. We are in position to carry into Germany many times the tonnage of high explosives which he can send here.

ACCURACY DOUBLED

The accuracy of our bombing has nearly doubled and with continued practice I expect it will improve still more.

Moreover, at the same time our methods of dealing with his raiders over here have more than repaid the mimense care and science bestowed upon them and the very large scale upon which they are applied.

During April we destroyed about one-tenth of all raiding aircraft which assailed our island whereas, acting on a scale several times as big, the losses we have suffered have been proportionately far smaller. You will remember how German propoganda films, thinking to terrorize neutral countries and glorying in their devastating violence, were wont to show rows of great German bombers being loaded up with bombs then casting showers of bombs down upon defenceless towns and villages, choking them in smoke and flams.

All this was represented to neutral countries as the German way of making war. All this was intended to make the world believe resistance to German will was impossible and subjugation and slavery was the safest and easiest road.

Those days are gone. We have a long list of German cities in which vital industries of the German war machine are established. All these it will be our stern duty to deal with as we have already dealt with Luebeck, with Rostock and a half-dozen important places.

GO INTO DETAILS

The civil population of Germany have, however, an easy way of escape from these severities, all they have to do is to leave cities where munition work is being carried on. Abandon their work and go out into the fields and watch the home fires burning from a distance.

In this way they may find time for mediation and repentance. There they may remember the millions of Russian women and children they have driven out to perish in snows and mass executions of peasantry and prisoners of war which in varying scales they are inflicting upon so many of the ancient and famous peoples of Europe.

There they may remember that it is the villainous Hitlerite regime which is responsible for dragging Germany through misery and slaughter to ultimate ruin. And the tyrant's overthrow is the first step to world liberation.

We now wait in what is a stormy lull but still a lull before the hurricane bursts again in its fullest fury on the Russian front. We cannot tell when it will begin.

We have not so far seen any evidence of those great concentrations of German masses which usually precede their large scale offensive. They may have been successfully concealed or may not yet have been launched eastward, but it is now May 10 and days are passing. We send our salutations to the Russian armies and we hope that the thousands of tanks and airplanes which have been carried to their aid from Britain and America will be a useful contribution to their own magnificently developed munitions resources.

There, however, is one serious matter which I must mention to you. The Soviet government have expressed to us the view that the Germans in the desperation of their assault may make use of poison gas against the armies and people of Russia. We are ourselves firmly resolved not to use this odious weapon unless it is used first by the Germans. Knowing our Hun, however, we have not neglected to make preparations on a formidable scale.

I wish to make it plain that we shall treat the unprovoked use of poison gas against our Russian ally exactly as if it were used against ourselves and if we are satisfied that this new outrage has been committed by Hitler we will use our great and growing air superiority in the west to carry gas warfare on the largest possible scale far and wide against the military objectives in Germany.

Meanwhile our deliveries of tanks, aircraft, and munitions to Russia from Britain and the United States continue upon a full scale. We have the duty of escorting convoys to their destination and our sailors and merchant seamen face the fearful storms of the Arctic Circle, lurking U-boats and shore-based aircraft as well as attacks by German destroyers and surface craft with their customary steadfastness and faithful courage.

CONVOYS GET THROUGH

So far, though not without some loss both to supply ships and their escorts, every convoy has successfully fought its way through and we intend to persevere and fight it out on this northern route to the utmost of our strength.

Is there anything else we can do to take the weight off Russia; we are urged from many quarters to invade the continent of Europe and so form a second front.

Naturally I shall not disclose what our intentions are but there is one thing I will say. I welcome the militant, aggressive spirit of the British nation so strongly shared across the Atlantic ocean. Is it not far better than in the 32nd month of this hard war we should find this general desire to come to the closest grips with the enemy than that there should be any signs of war weariness?

This week two islands have been in our minds. One is very large, the other very small—Madascar and Malta.

We have found it necessary to take precautions to prevent Madagascar falling into enemy hands by some dishonorable and feeble drifting or connivance by Vichy like that which injured us so much in Indo-China. It is three months since the decision was taken and more than two months since the expedition left these shores.

Its first task was to secure the splendid harbor of Diego Suarez, which, if it had fallen into Japanese hands, might have paralyzed all our communications with India and the Middle East.

While troops were on the sea I must tell you I felt a shiver every time I saw the word "Madagascar" in the newspapers. All these articles with diagrams and measured maps, showing how very important it was for us to take Madagascar and forestall the Japanese and be first for once, filled me with apprehension.

There was no question of leakage or a breach of confidence.

As they say, great minds think alike, but shrewd surmise may be as dangerous as leakage, and it was with considerable relief that I learned that the difficulties of our soldiers and their losses had not been aggravated and that the operation had been swiftly and effectually carried out.

We hold these places in trust for that gallant France which we have known and marched with and whose restoration to her place among great powers of the world is indispensable to the future of Europe. Madagascar rests under safeguard of the United Nations. Vichy, in the grip of Germans, has been made to bluster. The France that rose at St. Nazaire, and will one day rise in indescribable fury against the Nazis, understands.

ROCK OF HISTORY

The smaller island is Malta, a tiny rock of history and romance.

Today we welcome back to our shores General Dobbie, for nearly two years the heroic defender of Malta.

The burden which he has borne so honorably for so long entitles him to release and repose.

In Lord Gort we have a new impulse. His work at Gibraltar has been of the highest order. It was not his fault that our armies did not have their chance in France. He is a grand fighter. For the moment the terrific air attack on Malta has slackened. It looks as if a lot of enemy aircraft had moved eastward. If so, this supreme air battle for Malta upon which the enemy have concentrated such immense preponderance of strength, and for which they have sacrificed so many of those aircraft which they now have to count more carefully, will have been definitely won.

But other perils remain and I know of no man in the British Empire to whom I would sooner entrust the combatting and beating down of those perils than Lord Gort.

If we look back today over the course of the war as it has so far unfolded we can see that it seems to divide itself into four very clearly defined chapters.

FIRST PHASE

I would call the third chapter which then began "The Russian Glory." May it long continue.

The fourth chapter opened at Pearl Harbor when the military party in Japan treacherously attacked the United States and Great Britain in the Far East. That is where we are now.

The aggression of Italy in 1940 had carried war from Europe to Africa. The aggression of Japan has involved all Asia and in one way or another has drawn in or will draw in the whole of the American continent. Thus the struggle has become worldwide and the fate of all states and nations and their future is at stake.

This latest chapter of "universal war" confronts us with many difficulties and immense complications. But is there any thoughtful, sensible person who cannot see how vastly and decisively awful balances have turned to the advantage of the cause of freedom?.

The Japanese, taking advantage of fact that the United States had striven for so long to keep the peace, have seized more easily and more quickly than they expected their lands of booty and desire in the East Indian Archipelago.

MORE RESISTANCE

Henceforward they will find resistance stiffening on all their widely spread fronts.

They can ill afford losses such as those they have sustained in the naval action of the Coral seas. So far we have no detailed account but if only from the lies the Japanese themselves have felt compelled to tell of sinkings of battleships of the Warspite class it is obvious that a most vigorous and successful battle has been fought by United States and Australian forces.

Japanese war lords cannot be indifferent to the losses of aircraft inflicted upon them at so many points and particularly off the northern coasts of Australia and in their repulse at Colombo and Trincomalee.

At the start the pent-up, saved-up resources of Japan were bound to prevail in the Far Eastern theatre.

But the strength of the United States expressed in units of modern war power—actual and potential—is alone many times greater than the power of Japan.

And we also will make our contribution to the final defeat and punishment of this ambitious and greedy nation.

TIME NEEDED

Time will, however, be needed before the true strengths on either side of the eastern war become manifest.

I am not prone to make predictions but I have no doubt tonight that British and American seapower will grip and hold the Japanese and that overwhelming air power, supported by covering military operations, will lay them low.

This would come to pass very much sooner should anything happen to Hitler and Europe.

Therefore, tonight I give you a message of good cheer. You deserve it and the facts endorse it.

But be it good cheer or be it bad cheer it will make no difference to us. We shall drive on to the end and do our duty, win or die.

God helping us, we can do no other.

Today's War Moves

tain is firmly resolved not to use "this odious weapon" unless it is first used by the Germans but has made "formidable preparations" to retaliate in case the Germans violate their formal pledges against its use.

Although gas was used with deadly effect in the last war before it was a year old, there has been no clearly proven case of its use in this war. The Italians were reputed to have employed it against the Ethiopians in the African prelude to the general conflict. But the accusation was never definitely sustained.

USED IN BELGIUM

The Germans also were reported to have used it experimentally in the invasion of Belgium, knocking out the defenders of Belgian forts with a gas which was not deadly but paralyzed its victims mentally and physically. This also has not been definitely established, although such gases are known to exist.

In the last war, gas was used most effectively against soldiers in the field rather than against civilian populations. There were thousands of soldier casualties, some killed, some incapacitated for duty for varying periods, some for life.

Chemical warfare dates back as far as military history. The ancients used fire and smoke, "Greek fire", and noxious gases generated from pitch and sulphur.

The first effective modern use wes by the Germans in France in April of 1915. They unloosed chlorine gas from cylinders, to be windborne into the enemy ranks. Aided by favorable air currents they were able to spread havoc in the Allied lines. The troops were utterly without protection and fell gasping without knowing what had hit them. It is recorded that the attack was so successful the Germans were surprised and did not have the necessary reserves in line to take full advantage of it.

GAS FROM SHELLS

Crude gas masks were immediately developed and later were perfected, with improvements made to counter each new type of gas used. The opposing sides soon found that the cylinder method was unreliable and too subject to wind variations. Gas from shells was quickly brought into play and proved particularly effective in the use of mustard gas and similar vesicants, or blistering gasses.

Dozens of types of gases were developed, and experiments went on all during the war. Commonly used were lung irritants, such as chlorine, chloropicrin, phosgene, etc., and vesicants such as mustard gas. There were various irritants, such as tear gas, the like, which put a man temporarily out of action.

CAUSED NAUSEA

Some of the gases caused nausea, headaches, mental depression and physical weakness. Some refinement of the latter is supposed to have been used by the Germans in Belgium in 1940.

The deadliest of gases, based on hydrocyanide, which kills outright, was not much used because of its volatility and the difficulty of concentrating it effectively. New methods of employing this gas, however, are believed to have been developed in the last 20 years.

All the nations have been experimenting constantly with newer and deadlier gases since 1918. A renewal of gas warfare in this conflict may have a much wider effect on the civilian population than in the last one.

DROPPED FROM PLANES

That is because the gas probably will be dropped mainly in shells from airplanes. Lacking troops concentrations to aim at, the bombers presumably will seek out industrial centres which can be legitimately classed as military objectives. The resulting civilian casualties can easily be imagined.

when he said:

Churchill gave a hint of this "We will use our great and growing air superiority in the west to carry gas warfare on the largest possible scale far and wide against military objectives in Germany."

Implementing The Plebiscite

Prime Minister King gave notice in the House of Commons that he will move an amendment to the Mobilization Act. Whatever else it may propose, one purpose is understood to be the removal of clause 3 of the Act. This is the clause which prohibits compulsion in sending troops overseas. Its cancellation was plainly involved in the plebiscite, and became certain when the verdict was "yes."

With this restriction lifted, men can be called up for oversea service. Whether organized units created for home defence could be sent abroad as units, may be open to question. If so, further legislation will be required to shift these units from the "reserve" to the "active" lists.

The important matter however is that enough men be obtained to keep our oversea forces at full strength and to systematically expand them as the strategic plans of the Allies may require. Voluntary enlistment is as yet supplying the monthly quotas needed, and unless there are signs of a falling off it may be doubted that compulsory methods will be applied. To enforce conscription with no military reason for doing so would be only an arbitrary exercise of authority.

Tokyo Fears The Reaction

The smashing defeat administered to the Japanese naval forces in the Coral Sea was not the first drubbing they have been given. Macassar Strait was the scene of their first beating—the first the navy of Japan had ever known. They had the better of the subsequent fighting in the Java Sea, where they were able to match powerful ships against weaker ones. Last week's battle puts the Allies again even up, with the score standing two apiece and signal defeats for Japan against one qualified victory.

Tokyo suspects that the reaction upon the Japanese people from these repeated reverses of its supposed invincible navy might be serious, and it took pains to prevent them learning the facts. The official radio adopted last week the expedient of transferring its losses to the other column and giving out that the aircraft carriers which went to the bottom were United States ships; adding other fantastic details calculated to make the listeners think it was the Allied forces, and not their own, which had been "caught," battered and routed.

Apparently the war directors do not trust the Japanese morale to stand up to the impact of bad news. In this their judgment may be sound. Japanese faith in Nippon's navy is second only to faith in the heavenly origin of the Emperor. Announcement that the navy had met defeat again might well be as shocking to the hoi polloi as news that the dynasty had fallen.

Getting The Job In Hand

One all-important fact emerges from the rout of the Japanese invasion forces in the Coral Sea, the timely occupation of Madagascar, the ceaseless grinding away of Nazi military power by the Russians, and the devastating offensive the R.A.F. is carrying into the munitions centres of the Reich and the occupied countries. It is that the Allied fighting men do not have to go to the enemy to learn strategy, skill or valor.

Whatever criticism may have seemed to be in order in the past on the score of leadership in one theatre or another, there should be equally frank recognition that the lessons taught by experience are being applied. There has never in any area been cause to doubt either the efficiency or the bravery of the rank and file on land or sea or in the air. Nor is it to be forgotten that everywhere our forces have had to do much with little. That they failed, sometimes signally and tragically, was in the main because they were too few or were under-equipped.

This handicap is being fast overcome, and from the Arctic to India there is developing a positive strategy that was not anywhere possible until the United nations had figuratively beaten their plow-shares into swords.

The moral is clear. If we civilians in all the Allied lands keep on turning out the tools our fighting men will finish the job, for they are better men than their opponents. That we definitely know.

Why Not Mother's Year?

How many people in Edmonton—it would be interesting to know—failed to observe Mother's day—by sending her a message or some token of affection? Not many, surely. But if some did fail, the opportunity is still open to them to make good. Every day should be mother's day, and a letter or a gift to her is appropriate any day in the year. Her love and care did not and do not wax and wane with the season, and only continuous thoughtfulness on the part of her children can fittingly acknowledge their debt.

If Mother's day is really worth while it should mark the beginning of a whole year, in which no opportunity will be neglected to let mother know that she is in the thoughts of her children wherever they may be. How about carrying the Mother's day idea right through the twelve months, by going to see her regularly if she lives within reach, or writing to her regularly if she is at a distance? Conforming to a custom by remembering her on one day in 365 is a mighty poor way to make up for a whole year of neglect.

Vichy officials explain that French Somaliland has been drawing its supplies from Madagascar and say famine may result there from the British occupation of the island. As the Somaliland colony lies at the entrance of the Red Sea, these fears may be removed by the landing of Allied troops there also. In any case the United Nations are more likely to feed Jibuti than to starve it.

V

Hon. Ian Mackenzie says his department is considering a "fitness campaign," aimed to improve the physical condition of civilians as that of enlisted men has been improved. That should not be necessary. People all over the country have seen what proper food, exercise, and regular living habits have done for the soldiers. Any civilian who wants to get the same results knows how to do it.

Farmers are being urged to take care of their implements and thus keep down the demand for new ones while iron and steel are scarce. The same excellent advice should be taken to heart by townsfolk. Garden tools and other metal articles not usually treated as of much value are well worth conserving to the limit while iron is so scarce it has to be doled out by an official controller of supply.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1892 — 50 Years Ago

A carload of liquor arrived for the H.B. Co. last week, ready for the opening of the licensed sale.

On Monday the licensed sale of intoxicants began at Edmonton. The licensees are the Alberta, Clarke and Jasper hotels, H.B. Co., Norris and Carey and D. McLeod, wholesale licensees.

Colin Fraser arrived from Peace River on Tuesday.

Dr. R. Fraser returned from Vancouver on Thursday.

1902 — 40 Years Ago

Pretoria: The Boer peace delegates are visiting each district in rotation. General Botha is in the south-eastern part of the Transvaal, acting President Schalkburger and General Delarey are in the Western Transvaal, ex-President Steyn of the Free State is in the northeastern part of the Transvaal. At their meetings there will be a combined conference at Vereeniging on May 25, for final discussion of the terms of surrender.

London: It is officially given out that subsequent to the meeting of Boer delegates at Vereeniging they will proceed to Pretoria and deliver to Lord Kitchener their decision as to the peace terms they are ready to accept.

1912 — 30 Years Ago

Saskatoon: H. M. E. Evans of the Saskatoon Power Company reported he found that 14,000 horse power could be generated by damming the South Saskatchewan, at a cost of $2,220,000.

Edmonton is to undertake six miles of boulevarding this summer.

The last piece of masonry was put in place on the new legislative buildings at Edmonton yesterday.

Britain The Barrier

If the British were not in the fight the Germans would be at the very throat of this country and the Japanese would be knifing us from Alaska to San Diego. Already the Germans have actually broken through into the eastern waters, which are jealously regarded as our own special patrol, and our own record, not only in Pearl Harbor but everywhere except in the Philippines gives no American any right to sneer at the British stupidity in Singapore or Narvik or their inability to make a victory stick in North Africa. Like us, they were caught unarmed, untrained and apathetic, and the war was brought to them by an arrogant killer, who is now our own enemy, after they had accepted the bitterest humiliation to gain time or avoid the fight.—Westbrook Pegler, in New York World-Telegram.

Professions Of Hitler And The Doings Of Germany

Some Discrepancies Between Fuehrer's Pledges and Performance

At this stage in this war in which millions of men, women, and children have already been slaughtered, with millions more certain to die, with tens of millions in horrible distress which will be worse, with enormous destruction of noble things which human kind have valued, and with vast destruction more to come, it is worth while to set forth briefly the vile dishonour, the vile lying and treachery, of the German leaders who have forced this terrible tragedy upon the civilized world.

The vile story of the German dishonour is rehearsed circumspectly in a pamphlet just published entitled "The Diplomacy of the German Reich" by Denis Weaver, which The Journal proceeds to summarize briefly.

There is nothing new in the story. All of it has been heard before, in detachments. But it is well to have a complete picture, a bird's-eye view so to speak, of the incredible depth and width of the German villainy. The arch-villain was of course Hitler —the arch-liar, the insane Satan of the story. But the German people who have followed him like sheep, or rather like swine, must be held to full culpability.

Let us proceed to note his avowed principles before and after he attained power—

Then let us proceed to present his practice.

Before he achieved power, he proclaimed in his book Mein Kampf that treachery and lying were justifiable and desirable in political or national leaders to achieve their aims. And he vaunted the glory of war. "War is the most natural, the most everyday matter. War is eternal. War is life!"

And after he attained power, he ceased to advertise such frank rottenness, and professed instead decent aims—with the intent undoubtedly in his diseased mind to mislead the world outside Germany.

Professed Principles

Here were his professed principles as leader of Germany.

Feb. 10, 1933—Hitler (speech in Berlin): "The first and best point in Germany's peace program is that we won't lie and we won't swindle."

May 21, 1935—Hitler (Reichstag speech): "The blood spilt on the European continent in the last 300 years is out of all proportion to the results gained by any nation."

March 7, 1936—Hitler (Reichstag speech): "Germany has no desire to attack others. We have no territorial demands to make in Europe."

May 1, 1938—Hitler (speech in Berlin): "The motto must be 'never war again.'"

Sept. 12, 1938—Hitler (Parteitag speech): "Germany has today peaceful frontiers and recognizes these frontiers henceforth as unalterable and final in order by so doing to give to Europe the feeling of security."

His Practice

In view of these professed principles of Hitler as ruler of Germany let us note what followed in the German devastation of the continent of Europe, Hitler in every case up to the last moment declaring peace and amity.

Sept. 12, 1938—Hitler, Parteitag speech: "Germany has determined and has given assurances to accept and recognize its frontiers henceforth as unalterable and final."

Sept. 26, 1938—Hitler, speech in Berlin: "The Sudetenland is the last territorial claim which I have to make in Europe. . . . I have assured Mr. Chamberlain, and I repeat it now, that when this problem is solved Germany has no more territorial problems in Europe. . . . We don't want any Czechs."

Oct. 1, 1938—Germany annexes Sudetenland.

March 15, 1939—Germany annexes Czechoslovakia.

Poland

Oct. 24, 1933—Hitler (speech in Berlin): "Germany desires no Poles ought to live in agreement. The Germans cannot think of Europe without the Poles."

May 24, 1935—Hitler (Reichstag speech): "Germany has concluded a Non-Aggression Pact with Poland and will adhere to it unconditionally."

Jan. 30, 1939—Hitler (Reichstag speech): "We have just celebrated the fifth anniversary of our Non-Aggression Pact with Poland."

August 23, 1939—Germany invades Poland.

Denmark

May 31, 1939—German-Danish non-aggression pact signed. Article I: "The German Reich and the Kingdom of Denmark will in no circumstances resort to war or any other form of violence against each other."

April 9, 1940—Germany invades Denmark.

Belgium

Jan. 30, 1937—Hitler (Reichstag speech): "The German Government has always regarded Belgium and Holland of their readiness to recognize and guarantee these States as untouchable and neutral regions for all time."

Aug. 26, 1939—German Ambassador's statement to King Leopold: "The Reich would in no way infringe the integrity of Belgium."

Sept. 21, 1939—Goebbels at Berlin: "Germany has reaffirmed her pledge to observe strict neutrality towards Belgium."

May 10, 1940—Germany invades Belgium.

Holland

Aug. 26, 1939—German Ambassador at The Hague: "The inviolability and integrity of The Netherlands will in no circumstances be infringed upon; and Dutch territory will at all times be respected."

Oct. 6, 1939—Hitler (Reichstag speech): "The new Reich has inherited no differences with Holland and created no new ones."

May 10, 1940—Germany invades Holland.

Yugoslavia

April 28, 1938—German White Book, No. 337: "Through the union of Austria and the Reich, we have obtained new frontiers with Yugoslavia. These frontiers are regarded by us as definite and inviolable.

June 1, 1939—Hitler (Speech at banquet in Berlin in honor of Prince Paul of Yugoslavia): "Germany and Yugoslavia have become neighbors with a common frontier for ever, a firmly-founded confidence that will endure lasting peace."

Oct. 6, 1939—Hitler (Reichstag speech): "I have informed Yugoslavia that the frontier of this State would be regarded by Germany as unalterable, and that we desired to live with her in only peace and friendship."

March 27, 1941—Germany invaded Yugoslavia.

Greece

April 6, 1941—Germany invades Greece.

Russia

May 21, 1935—Hitler (Speech in Berlin): "We National Socialists and the Bolsheviks are the deadliest and most fanatical enemies."

Aug. 23, 1939—Russo-German Non-aggression Pact signed. Article I specifies: "The two contracting parties bind themselves to refrain from any act of force, any aggressive action and any attack on one another." Article 5: "In the event of any disputes or disagreements, both parties will clarify these disputes or disagreements by means of friendly exchange of opinion or, if necessary, by arbitration." Article 6: "The present agreement shall be concluded for a period of ten years."

Feb. 24, 1940—Hitler (Reichstag speech): "I sincerely believe that the Russian and German regimes have succeeded in achieving something which is really beneficial for both people."

July 19, 1940—Hitler (Reichstag speech): "German-Russian relations have been finally settled . . . And only any new German-Russian tension may intervene is infantile."

May 21, 1941—Germany invades Russia.

Such is the Hitler and German record up to the present.

Nine unoffending countries bloodily assaulted without a day's warning, with German amity and peaceful ideals professed to almost the last day in every case.

It was little enough for a British minister, Anthony Eden, to say in a recent speech:

"The head of the German state stands condemned by his own deeds as a man of perjured faith. We are not in any circumstances prepared to negotiate with him at any time on any subject."

Summary of Broadcast Given May 9 Over CFRN

By HAROLD L. WEIR

The seizure of Madagascar by British forces, on behalf of all the United Nations, to hold that island in trust for the people of France, is an important strategic step.

It will prevent its occupation by the Japanese who had hoped, from there, to dominate the Indian Ocean.

But the strategic importance of this move is no greater than the political significance of it.

Harold L. Weir

In the first place, this out-and-out allied defiance of Vichy will send Laval out into the open, so far as his collaboration with Hitler is concerned.

It has been obvious that although Laval has had no hesitation in openly abusing Britain, since his accession to office, he has made strenuous efforts to maintain friendly relations with the United States. As a matter of fact, it has been conjectured that part of his debt to Hitler would be paid by endeavoring to create a breach between Britain and the United States by playing on the traditional American sympathies for France.

Ends Policy

This move into Madagascar knocks that policy sky-high because it was a move in which the United States patently concurred and which the United States helped to plan, thus indicating that the American people do not propose to be fooled by Laval's pretensions.

The effect of all this will be to forestall Laval's more subtle machinations and cause him to operate more openly.

This, of course, is a diplomatic victory.

The seizure of Madagascar is significant, in another sense, in that it indicates that the Allied Nations will no longer consider themselves hampered, in their operations, by the peculiar sensibilities of Vichy. In other words, the period of Vichy appeasement is definitely over and it will no longer be necessary to consider the feelings of Petain et al in planning future strategy.

No one can wage a war very vigorously while they are forced, part of the time, to walk on eggs. And that is what the allied relationship with Vichy has meant —walking on eggs.

At any rate, the eggs are broken now and we can tread vigorously and purposefully wherever we choose.

Nursemaids

Having discharged ourselves as nursemaids to Vichy, we can begin to consult our security with a little more intelligence and spirit, in such places as the Caribbean Sea where Martinique, Guadaloupe and French Guiana, in their present hands, constitute a grave threat to allied safety.

So long as the submarine war in the Atlantic remains the crux of the world operations, any factor that might contribute to our losses in the Atlantic cannot be overlooked.

Nobody should be afraid to say now that the likelihood that Martinique, for instance, has been used as a supply base for German submarines is very great and that, in self-defense, we should seize Martinique without delay.

The seizure of Madagascar is a bold move that has opened up innumerable opportunities. It will be profitable to us in direct proportion to the extent to which we are prepared to pursue the logical course to it.

Amusing Mussolini

Even in this most critical moment of the world's history, there are still questions that tickle the international funnybone.

Among these, this week, was a measure taken by our old friend Benito Mussolini who although he has lost his power to terrify, or even to interest, is still able to amuse.

Mussolini, it seems, has written a new code of Italian statutes called Mussolini Laws. To enforce this code, he has caused himself to be proclaimed, "Lord Chief Justice of the Realm." He says that the inauguration of this new legal system is the "guarantee of victory."

These laws, it should be noted, consist mostly of harsh and vindictive measures against anybody who dares to threaten the security of the Fascist party.

But the significant thing about this latest performance is the state of mind it reveals in Mussolini and his colleagues—if he still has any.

Decadence is always marked in a state by the passage of innumerable laws, in an individual by the assumption of innumerable titles.

Laws are made necessary by the tendency of a people to misbehave. Laws multiply as the people increase in lawlessness.

Non-Resistance

Now the Mail Bag:

Donald E. Candle, Evansburgh, Alberta: I am afraid I have great difficulty in differentiating between the non-violence of Jesus Christ and of Gandhi. Perhaps you can help.

I have had several letters criticizing my remarks, last Saturday, about Gandhi and his policy of non-resistance to the Japanese, notably one from the Rev. Dr. Huestis which appeared in today's Bulletin.

Now I am not prepared to engulf myself in the unfamiliar depths of theology. But my limited understanding of such things does not permit me to believe that Gandhi's proposal to offer the violent resistance to a Japanese invasion of India finds any parallel or endorsement whatsoever in Christian teaching.

Now I get the impression that while our Lord taught humility and submission to men, he did not teach submission to evil. It is one thing to restore the soldier's ear cut off by S. Peter, to teach infinite forgiveness, to exalt meekness. It is another thing to violently cast the money changers out of the temple and to pronounce anathema against the cities that refused to receive him.

It seems to me it is just as much a Christian duty to resist evil by any means, as it is to forgive your enemies. There is nothing incompatible about the two.

If the heathen Japanese, Empire and the pagan German Empire devoted to a gross materialism and intent upon the destruction of Christian principles, are not evil, what is?

Gandhi's policy of non-resistance to and non-violence towards this ignominious heathen wave is decidedly and emphatically anti-Christian.

"Heavy Blows"

I should like to call your attention to the words of Prime Minister Curtin, on the eve of what may be the invasion of Australia in spite of a heroic repulse of Japanese naval power.

He says, "I tell you bluntly that the whole world may very well shake within the next few weeks under the blows full scale warfare will strike."

I am sorry to have to say graphically what I have been trying to say on these broadcasts for weeks, that we have not yet begun to feel the full weight and horror of total war.

It is unnecessary to elaborate the warning implied in Mr. Curtin's statement against a relaxing of complacency or the fond illusion that war will win itself without the utmost energy and sacrifice on the part of every one of us.

The Axis intends to eliminate us from the earth, to destroy our civilization and to exterminate us, as individuals.

The venom of their attack is seen in the recent bombing of historic spots in England. York, Bath, Norwich, Exeter, Chester, wherever some landmark of British culture rears its head above the horizon, there is the fury of Axis attack the most relentless.

Hatred

It indicates how implacable is the Axis hatred of our Christian civilization.

It indicates, too, how little they understand it.

Who are these ignorant and malevolent men who dare to think that the glory of our race is buried in any edifice, however ancient?

Who are these furious and spiteful aggressors who are so foolish as to believe that our tradition and our culture can be destroyed by bombs?

Their utter lack of understanding may well be their undoing, their unreasoning fury the source of their defeat.

For we have entrusted the genius of our race to no cathedral. Our antiquity may nourish us, but we do not look to it for sustenance.

The power and the glory of the British nation is something that is held in British hearts—and in the hearts of sons of Britain though they may have dwelt for generations beyond the seas.

What bomb can wipe that out?

"Good Humor Month" In Germany

Your Opinion

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Foreign Vote

Editor, Bulletin: With reference to an item in your editorial column, the latter part of last week, wherein you refer to the non-English, non-French strains who form a larger percentage of the population in Alberta and Saskatchewan than elsewhere, going on to state "The vote should suggest something to critics in other provinces who have thought it the part of patriotism to anger the "foreigners" in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The 'yes' vote in Alberta and Saskatchewan was away above the Dominion average, in Saskatchewan even more so."

Do I take it you mean to ipfer that the so called "foreign" vote had an influence in producing the majority, which was about 72 per cent in this province? If this is your intention, my opinion is that you are quite emphatically mistaken or purposely false. The negative constituencies in Alberta are almost entirely non-English and non-French.

This is not intended to be a "sneer" at these settlers who have a perfect right to vote according to their way of thought. That was the purpose for which they were given the field. If they voted very decidedly against and why in the name of goodness do you refer to it in an article calculated to give the impression that they had an influence in producing the 72 per cent "yes" majority?

A break-down of the poll in any of the constituencies in which a large percentage of non-British settlers reside will show conclusively that a very much higher percentage than 72 would have been reached had their vote not been included.

What is your paper trying to do, fool the public?

A. LOCKTON.

Non-Resistance

Editor, Bulletin: Like many readers of The Bulletin, I read with pleasure and profit Harold Weir's daily column in your paper. May I be said some things in the broadcast of Saturday last, which were printed in Monday's issue (May 4), which involve reference to the teachings of Jesus Christ and speaks of "Gandhi and other Hindu fanatics." Gandhi's acceptance of persecution and his belief that endurance of the same helps to develop spiritual stature, he calls "a fantastic, heathen notion" from which nearly one hundred million fanatical Hindus believe blindly."

Gandhi's belief in persecution and the acceptance of persecution as a means of spiritual development are also the belief of some six hundred million Christians, Protestant, Roman Catholic and Eastern, and the symbol of this belief is the Cross.

The Sermon on the Mount is replete with this doctrine, and the Apostolic writings stress it again and again. It is given at least lip service every Sunday in the pulpits of Christendom. The difference between the Hindus and run-of-mine Christians is that the former nourish their faith day in and day out, while Christians, generally speaking — the Quakers are an exception—confine their active service to this faith chiefly to Sundays.

Today a very considerable number of them "put their trust in reeking tube and iron shard."

Mr. Nehru has announced the decision of the Indian Congress, in the event of India being invaded by the Japanese, to practice "Satyagraha" (non-violence) —a decision which Whitehall calls "unrealistic." If they carry out this policy it will be an event of immense importance for it will demonstrate whether or not this Hindu-Christian faith will meet the test of war. There is much in the past history of the race which says that it will; but, as some one has remarked, "we learn from history that we learn nothing from history."

Alberta District News In Brief

Three Hills Man Badly Injured

THREE HILLS—While seeding on his farm at Ghost Pine Creek, Arthur Dawn received serious injuries when his foot caught in the drill and he fell beneath it. The wheel of the drill passed over his body, breaking his hip in two places and breaking a rib. His brother, Walter, heard his cries for help and rescued him just before the drill and tractor which was going in circles, could pass over him again. He was taken to the Holy Cross hospital in Calgary, where his condition is reported to be serious. . . .

Rev. I. A. Houston, Hardisty, held services in the United church recently. . . . Rev. E. Brundage was a business visitor to Edmonton. . . .

Douglas McDonough has taken a position with a surveying party on the Alaska highway. . . . Seeding of wheat is about 75 per cent. finished but coarse grains will not be generally seeded until some moisture falls. The ground is very dry and soil drifting has been bad.

Ardrossan Guild Makes 15 Quilts: Group Is Active

ARDROSSAN—Meeting regularly at the homes of members, the Ardrossan War Services Guild has made patch-work tops and put together and quilted 15 quilts with but a small membership. Members and friends donated most of the patches and linings. The women of the Social Credit Group made and presented to the Guild three woollen quilts. Much credit goes to those who opened their homes for the meetings and the indefatigable workers of the Guild. During the past month cigarettes have been sent to ten local boys overseas and donations have been made to the Kinsmen's Milk Fund and the Orphans' Fund of the Lions Club.

The following articles have been handed to the Red Cross headquarters in Edmonton in the last six weeks: 15 quilts, 15 pairs of pyjamas, five sweaters, five pairs of seamen's socks, seven pairs of service socks, three pairs of boy's stockings, one pair of mitts.

Gleaned From Rural News

MARWAYNE—Visiting clergy at the recent anniversary celebration of St. David United church were Rev. A. T. Bell, Islay, and Rev. E. S. Reikie, Kitscoty. They were accompanied by Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Reikie, S. A. Berg, M.L.A., gave an address. . . .

Eastern U.S. Gas Ration Set At 3 Gallons

WASHINGTON, May 11—(CP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson Saturday night set the basic gasoline ration for non-essential motorists in the eastern seaboard of the United States at three gallons a week, effective next Friday, as a wartime measure to conserve the fuel.

As a result of the ruling, office of price administration officials said, passenger-car drivers who held seven-unit "A" cards will be entitled to purchase a total of 21 gallons of gasoline for the 47-day period from May 15 to July 1, when the permanent plan is to go into effect.

Under the planned rationing system as announced by the O.P.A. five types of cards entitling holders to varying amounts of gasoline for the 47-day period will be issued. They are:

A Cards—Allowing non-essential motorists driving less than six miles a day 21 gallons.

B-1 Cards—Allowing 33 gallons to those who "must" drive six to 10 miles a day.

B-2 Cards—Allowing 45 gallons to those who must drive 10 to 14 miles a day.

B-3 Cards — Allowing 57 gallons to those who must drive more than 14 miles a day.

X Cards—For "essential" drivers such as doctors who cannot predict their daily mileage, giving unlimited gasoline for essential uses only.

Canadian Trade Commissioner Is Back In London

LONDON, May 11.—(CP)—Richard Grew, Canadian trade commissioner, has arrived in London with his wife and four other Canadians, and the first thing he did was visit the Canadian Red Cross Society to convey his thanks for assistance it rendered the Canadians during the two years' internment in Germany.

"Canadian Red Cross packages which arrived regularly were a Godsend and the best of any," Grew said yesterday.

The party was repatriated in exchange for German officials held in Canada and Britain.

More Airmen From Britain Arrive Safely In Canada

OTTAWA, May 11.—(CP)—Canadian airmen returning to Canada from British, British airmen coming here to train flying under the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, and ferry command pilots have arrived safely after an uneventful Atlantic crossing.

The trainees, who included Polish and Netherlands nationals made up most of the group, which numbered hundreds. Some United States members of the R.A.F. were also included in the movement.

Airman Killed

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., May 11.—(CP)—Aircraftsman Leslie Ernest Stephenson, 39 E.F.T.S., Swift Current, met death late Friday when his training plane crashed on a farm five miles south of McMahon and about 20 miles southeast of Swift Current. His name was withheld pending notification of relatives in Great Britain.

Vichy Relations

OTTAWA, May 11.—(CP)—Pierre Dupuy, charge d'affaires of Canada's French legation, arrived in Ottawa Saturday to confer with Prime Minister Mackenzie King on relations with Vichy. He declined to make any statement pending his report to the government.

Bill Cunningham's Column

FREDDIE COCHRANE FOLLOWS IN FOOTSTEPS OF HIS HERO

NEW YORK, May 11—That was quite a fight the other night—the Navy Relief fight in Boston—between Sailor Red Cochrane and Marine Garvey Young, but the angle I want to take as my text for this little essay is the colorful personality of Cochrane himself.

Boatswain's Mate Freddie Cochrane, Red Cochrane on the pulpits of blood, sweat and leather, is currently stationed at Newport, R.I., where he stands on a high platform at the side of a parade ground and teaches boxing all day to successive companies of recruits who are marched over to him. He won the welterweight championship of the world from Fritzie Zivic in the Newark baseball park on the night of last July 29, and the next day he enlisted in the United States Navy.

It's to be noted that was three months and some days before Pearl Harbor, and it's likewise to be noted that he hasn't made a quarter with the title. He didn't make a quarter in his fight Friday night. He was doing a Joe Louis, and so was the other boy.

RED PASSED UP CHANCE FOR $50,000

Considerable of a hue and cry went up at the time Cochrane entered his particular department of the naval arm, for this was the Tunney department, and your fair member all that. Cochrane was a cinch to be drafted, eventually, because he has a mother and father and two brothers for a family.

But no matter how fast it worked, the draft couldn't possibly have caught him before he had time to go back at least once, and at least collect around $50,000. In fact, the draft may have passed him up entirely, or at least for quite a while, for he has one of those "tennis elbows" like Tunney's and Sharkey's.

Sharkey said he got his missing hooks, Tunney would never admit he'd missed a hook. Red does not know how he got his, but his right arm is at least three inches shorter than his left when both are held stiffly extended before him. He had to get a special waiver from the Navy to get in.

TUNNEY SPECIFICALLY ASKED FOR COCHRANE

In fact, Tunney issued an official communique on the matter, in which he said quote, Cochrane is the most articulate pugilist I have ever encountered, unquote. Some of the rest of us can say that, too, especially if we can substitute sincerity for heaviness, and simple declarative sentences for broken-backed syllogisms at three ems's and two ahh's per yard.

The young man's forensic powers completely enraptured two speech-calloused guys in Boston last week. The first was a luncheon of sports writers where he hooked neatly through an opening in the oratorical guard of President Officer E. Thomas Carens and proceeded to Websterize the audience into a high state of thrilled and even inspired delight. The next was at the weekly luncheon of the Boston Advertising Club, a case hardened aggregation of veal cutlet alumni who've still holding out despite the oratorical shelling of everybody from Wendell Willkie to Sally Rand.

This little red-headed prize fighter, with the glove-moulded features and the alight corrugation through his left brow commemorating one he forgot to duck, had them on their feet at the finish of his little speech, in spirit, at least. These were more or less impromptu efforts, but he says he'd really like to go out and take the public stump for this Navy. He'd like to preach it, he says. He loves it. He believes in it. He even wants to stay in it, and shall, he says, if he can find any sort of spot in it that looks like a port to tie up in when the immediate job ahead of it is done.

MICKEY WALKER GAVE HIM GLOVES

There's an interesting little story behind the boy, as a fighter, not a sailor. He was a little red-headed tyke in the Kerrigan Head, or Irish, section of Elizabeth, N.J., when Mickey Walker was in his prime. That was 20 years ago. Walker was the idol of the section, the sports element of the city and especially of the kids over in that particular neighborhood.

Mickey, The Toy Bulldog, climaxed his blazing climb to recognition by defeating Jack Britton, for the world welterweight championship. (Britton's oldest son, Jack, Jr., 26 years old and a brilliant teacher of flying at the Miami airport where the Latin-American pilots are training, was killed in a weird aerial head-on collision over a Miami suburb about three weeks ago.)

But they brought Mickey home from that fight with a great parade. There were automobiles and band music, red fire and speeches. Little Red Cochrane was just seven years old. He hit a bee line for Mickey's home, which was where the parade was headed, and he paraded determinedly upon the steps. He wanted the gloves. The police swept him off his perch on the stoop to make room for the mayor to peek and all, and they had to keep doing it, but he always got back in some fashion or other. And there he stuck until the new champion presented him with the armaments.

BEAT TWO CHAMPIONS IN SUCCESSIVE FIGHTS

The kicker on this is that 19 years later, missing the even 20 by the fraction of a few months, he came back to the same old neighborhood, with the same sort of parade, and with the self-same title in his own possession. He had a little harder travelling than his hero of yore. He lost quite a few. He had to piece out his living at times at an apprentice mechanic. But he kept plugging and slugging and he finally got there. He stands in the ring across the only fighter he's met since Sullivan to whip two world champions in two successive fights. Jenkins and Zivic were the victims.

On the oratorical end, he says he doesn't know how it happened. His manager says he doesn't either. Red was so shy up to the time he won the title, the manager had to do the talking for him even to sports writers. Then, here, overnight he was a regular Demosthenes.

Editorially, he progressed as far as second year of high school. He says he doesn't read much because he doesn't like it. He says he doesn't figure much other people do, either. He just says what he has to in words he knows he can handle, and if anybody wants to listen, it's all right with him.

"B" Teams for Losers Fall Apart

Mayfair And Highlands Win McMullen Cup Matches

Mayfair disposed of the Country Club by a total of 59 to 21 and Highlands won from Municipal 55 to 25 in the second round of the Inter-Club matches for the McMullen Cup played Sunday.

In each case it was the "B" teams which settled the issue. Country Club "B's" were only able to salvage one point out of the 40 on their own greens against Mayfair, while Municipals fell before the accurate shot-making of Highlands 36-4.

Municipal made a good start in the Inter-Club play for the year when the "A" teams edged out the strong Highlands aggregation, 21-18. Henry and Burna Martell and Pete Olynyk and R. Jennings picked up 18 points for Highlands in the first two games, but Reg. Moon paired with J. H. Loucks, blanked K. and B. Jennings and Ivor Williams and W. E. Smith won 9-1 over R. Manahan and D. Williams.

Highlands "B's", however, won all their games. E. J. New and his partner, G. Wilson, grabbed off 10 points, while B. J. Johnson and F. K. King and W. Hobden and A. Hutton each made 9. W. A. Anderson and Reg. Bewley defeated John Mather and J. L. Atkinson 8-2.

The Country Club-Mayfair clash of the "Bees" was even more unfortunate from the standpoint of the losers. W. G. Skinner and J. T. Davison saved the Clubmen from a complete route by saving the singleton in their match with Archie Muir and A. H. Templeton.

Dr. Nieuwsma and Dave Milne, along with Drs. Watson and Davidson and R. G. Thomlinson and H. E. Illingworth made a complete sweep, making the total 39-1.

Mayfair and Highlands each have won twice now.

Yanofsky Wins 12 Toronto Games

TORONTO, May 11. — (CP) — Eighteen-year-old Abe Yanofsky of Winnipeg, Canadian chess champion, won 12 games and drew one in two hours' playing here Saturday night at the Queen City chess club.

Yanofsky, touring Ontario, was held to the draw by Val Grieve, 17-year-old English lad who is attending school here. Grieve, whose home is near Manchester, came to Canada two years ago and placed second last year in the Toronto boys' tournament.

Two Killed In Auto Rr

GREENVILLE, O., May 11.—(AP)—Two drivers were killed Sunday in a 10-lap special automobile racing event scheduled after weather caused cancellation of the originally planned season-opening program at the half-mile dirt track here.

Suspend Senior Canoe Regatta

OTTAWA, May 11.—(CP)—Delegates to the 41st annual meeting of the Canadian Canoe Association decided Saturday to suspend its Dominion championship regatta for the war's duration.

Indians' Catcher Suffers Fracture

CLEVELAND, May 11.—(AP)—Gene Desautels, Cleveland Indians' catcher, suffered a broken bone in his right leg as he tangled with Bill Hitchcock, Detroit shortstop, at the plate in the third inning of Sunday's second game.

"A fractured fibula," was the diagnosis of Dr. E. B. Castle, club physician. Desautels will be out of the lineup for about six weeks.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

TORONTO, May 11. — (CP) — Greatest day in Canadian sport history probably will come during Army Week, announced Friday in Commons by Defence Minister Ralston.

The Army Week program primarily will be to honor the Canadian soldier and our soldiers like a spot of comfort and a dash of entertainment with their homage. So if you think you've ever seen a heavy Canadian sports schedule, wait until every military district branches into a miniature Olympics. There will be track and field, baseball, boxing—like works.

Few details of Army Week have been announced beyond the dates (June 29-July 5). Most likely choice for sports is Monday, opening day. It has been designated Soldiers' Day. There are other possibilities. Lou (Halifax Chronicle) Zwerling hears July 1 has been chosen.

Hockey (Ho Hum) Department:

Bobby Bauer is in Toronto going to R.C.A.F. radio school, . . . Woody Dumart is at Trenton, Milt Schmidt still at Ottawa—Dick (Pat) Arthur News Chronicle) Elliot thinks hockey classifications should go by weight. . . . Superior weight had much to do with Ottawa's Allan Cup win over Port Arthur. . . . He opines: "The emphasis is on beef, not skill."

Incidentally:

Centrals Defeat Moose In Opener

Mayor John Fry Hurls First Ball

Edmonton's softball season for 1942 was duly ushered in at Kingsway Park on Saturday night, the Army and Navy Pats defeating Walk-Rites 8-5 in the Senior Ladies League opener before 300 fans.

Mayor John W. Fry added the official touch by chucking a couple of deceptive twisters at AC2 Nin Gray, a member of the Centrals team of the men's senior loop.

President H. D. Ainlay did the receiving.

The mayor so far has not issued any communique as to just what he used on the ball, but it was very effective for the beat Nin could do was foul twice down the third line base.

And by the way, the mayor must have been doing a little pre-season brushing up himself, for this year he's pitching in the truly orthodox softball fashion—not overhand, as he did last year.

The Edmonton Fusiliers band was in attendance.

It was the first appearance in city softball circles for the Walk-Rites, although most of the players have had previous experience with other teams. However, Coach Murray Saldman has a smart looking aggregation and they should be able to go places with those nifty new outfits.

Thora Stewart, who played with Junior Pats last season was top batter for the opener with three hits in four attempts, one being a two-bagger. She scored two runs and started the Pats' rally in the sixth, which really won the game.

Isabel Gilroy, of Walk-Rites, had a three-bagger.

Walk-Rites got away to a good start in the first inning with two runs. Dolly Lane was safe on a fumble and went to second on a passed ball. Jean Barton's fly was dropped and Jean Beatty's line drive sent a pair of runs in.

Pats came right back with three runs. Blanche Teviodale singled and Thora Stewart lined one out to left field. Katie Lyons got a life on an error, and Dorothy Ellis walked, forcing in one run. Gwen Lawson reached first on second bobble and Stewart and Lyons scored.

The sixth was the Army and Navy girls' big inning and it was good for four counters.

Thora Stewart and "Peanuts" Martin hit identical angles to short left, and Dorothy Ellis' drive was good one marker and Martin scored on an error at the plate.

Gwen Lawson, Kelly MacDonald and Blanche Quirin all reached first on errors and in the process two runs came in.

Pats also got one in the seventh and Walk-Rites made one in each of the third, sixth and ninth.

CENTRALS WIN FROM MOOSE 9-2

Centrals won their first start in the Men's Senior Softball League when they walloped the Moose 9-2 at Kingsway Park on Sunday afternoon.

The winners used three pitchers, each working for a trio of innings. Nin Gray was the first to appear in only one hit. The others allowed two each.

Nin Gray was top batter and evidently found the Moose chuckers easier than Mayor Fry the night previous, for he whammed out four safeties in the same number of times at bat, two being triples.

Dave Rae connected for a homer over the centre field fence in the fourth with the bases loaded and that wallop gave Centrals quite a lift.

Joe Cherniawsk, of Maple Leafs' junior football fame, came back into the spotlight yesterday with three hits in three trips to the plate. He got one off each of the Centrals' pitchers.

Centrals made most of their hay in the fourth inning, when they collected four of five runs. They got three in the seventh.

Ron MacWilliams Wins Medal Honors In Calgary Golf

CALGARY, May 11—(CP)—Ronnie MacWilliams won medal honors in the qualifying round of the city amateur golf championship tournament Sunday when he turned in a one over par 71 at the Municipal club.

Due to rain, the standard of golf on the whole was not good, as two of four players who turned in cards of 90 qualified.

Seventy players, 37 less than a year ago, participated.

In copping qualifying honors MacWilliams, a reinstated pro and a brother of Carson and Gordon MacWilliams, outstanding Alberta golfers for a great many years, was out in par 37 and came home in 34, one over par.

Men's Softball Opening Tomorrow

Official opening of the Edmonton Senior Men's Softball League is being held immediately prior to Tuesday night's game between No. 3 Manning Depot and Aircraft Repair.

Wing Commander E. E. Dey has been asked to throw the first ball of the game. Squadron Leader C. E. Moffatt will be the catcher and Squadron Leader E. M. Hodgetts will attempt to wallop his superior officer's offering for a homer.

Incidentally, it is understood that Wing Commander W. C. Webber, officer commanding at the Manning Depot, is a member of the Depot team.

Postpone Cricket League Opening

The opening cricket game between Edmonton Wanderers and Civil Service billed for Saturday was called off and a practice game played instead.

Several boys from the No. 2 Air Observer School turned out and two pick-up teams were chosen for a friendly game as a season's starter, with 12 players on each side.

Wales Beats England 1-0 Before 35,000 At Cardiff

LONDON, May 11.—(CP)—Wales defeated England 1-0 Saturday in a hard-fought international football match at Cardiff before a crowd of 35,000, avenging a defeat by England last fall. The match brought the international season to a finish.

The Welsh team attacked constantly and inside forward Lucas, playing for the first time as an internationalist, shot the deciding goal midway through the first half.

In semi-finals of the football league war cup competition, Wolverhampton Wanderers scored a smashing 4-0 victory over West Bromwich and Sunderland and Grimsby Town played a scoreless draw. Both games were the first of home-and-home, total-goal series. Return games will be played next Saturday.

Forty thousand fans watched Glasgow Rangers take the Scottish Southern League cup with a 1-0 win over Morton. The Scottish Northeastern League cup finalists will be Aberdeen and Dundee United. Aberdeen defeated East Fife 1-0 and won the home-and-home series 2-1. Dundee drew 1-1 with Rangers but won the round 4-3.

Blackpool took an undisputed lead in the football league championship race with an 8-2 win over Oldham. Manchester United, tied until Saturday with Blackpool, was held to a 1-1 draw by Blackburn. Third-place Liverpool upset Chesterfield 3-0.

REQUESTED, SUN AGAIN IN DEAD HEAT

Alsab Cops Preakness In Fastest Time Ever Recorded

Believe It Or Not— —By Robt Ripley

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON

MATHEMATICAL SLEEPER: Abraham De Moivre (1667-1754), the mathematician, was a French Huguenot who was compelled to flee France and settle in England. He died by somnolence (too much sleep) after sleeping habitually 20 and more hours per day. He said: "I shall sleep a quarter of an hour more each day and the day I sleep the clock around I shall die." This prophecy was fulfilled on November 27, 1754, when De Moivre failed to wake. He is the creator of the law of probabilities. Insurance is greatly indebted to him for having calculated the table of mortality in its initial stage.

Cuts Over Second Off Former Mark

BALTIMORE, May 11.—(AP)—Alsab came back Saturday. With the some thunder in his legs that carried him to greatness a year ago, the little colt roared down Pimlico's stretch to win the classic Preakness Stakes and end the jinx on him all this year.

He did it the hard way, before a record crowd of 42,000. He came from far back and on the outside to run over eight of the nine other horses in the field in the last quarter mile and finish on top by a length and take the $58,175 pot of gold.

He thus ended all the disappointments which accompanied his eight straight losing races this year. He had skyrocketed to the top of the heap in 1941, winner of 15 races, 10 in a row.

So with all that riding on this fifty-second edition of Maryland's turf classic he smashed over the finish line in one minute, 57 seconds, chopping a full 1 1-5 seconds from the stake record High Quest set in 1934.

Alsab was a clean length on top at the wire, while Ben Whitaker's Requested from Texas and Warren Wright's Sun Again, the big youngster who was a doubtful starter until two hours before postime, battled it out for second honors.

SHUT OUT FIFTH

Requested and Sun Again hit the tape so close that not even the camera could split them and they finished in a dead heat. A length back of them, after being last at the mile mark in the 1 3-16 miles struggle, came Maryland's price, R. Sterlin Clark's Colchis.

Half a length back of him was last week's Kentucky Derby hero—Shut Out. The son of Equipoise, half of Mrs. Payne Whitney's one-two punch in this year's big stakes, had little of his Kentucky class this time. He couldn't keep up in the early going, failed again at the finish, and was fifth.

Fair Call, owned by Mrs. Barclay Douglas of Long Island, was sixth; Emerson F. Woodward's Valdina Orphan was seventh; Mrs. Whitney's "Glamor Boy", Devil Diver, stopped cold and was eighth; William Woodward's Apache was a tired ninth and the English-bred Domingo, from the barn of movie man Louis B. Mayer, chased all the others home.

MUTUELS PAY $2.05

The bettors knew Alsab was hot this time. They backed him down to the favorite's slot at $2.05 to $1.

This biggest crowd ever to jam old Hilltip poured money into the mutuel machines. A total of $240,353 was bet on the Preakness alone, nearly equalling the $250,000 record set in this race when Man O' War won it.

In picking up $58,175 for his first victory this year Alsab boosted his all-time earnings to $182,075.

Alsab will go to Belmont Park Tuesday to run in the Withers and Belmont Stakes.

Says New Frick Rule Okay

Dodgers Lovers Of Peace Avers Modest Mr. McPhail

By JUDSON BAILEY

BROOKLYN, May 11—(AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers cause a lot of confusion and make a lot of noise, but they really are a peace-loving people, President Leland Stanford MacPhail insisted today.

"I've been hearing that I am feuding with Ford Frick about the National League's new rule against managers arguing with umpires and about our players going around fighting trouble all the time," he declared in his best booming baritone. "But that's a lot of bosh.

"Actually I am in entire agreement with Frick on his rule. No manager can sit in a dugout and judge a ball or strike and I never heard any of them say they could. Therefore, it is silly for them to be running out on the field all the time arguing and delaying the game.

"I have talked to the president of the National League about this only once. That was after Manager Leo Durocher, Whit Wyatt, Dolph Camilli and Fred Fitzsimmons all were thrown out of the game in St. Louis by Ziggy Sears.

"Now as soon as I found out players like Wyatt, Fitzsimmons and Camilli were thrown out I figured something was wrong because those fellows don't get thrown out of a game once in five years.

"So I called Frick and asked him what had happened and I asked him if the umpire had ordered Durocher out of the game before he came up to the plate and said anything, just on the umpire's assumption that my manager was going to argue on a scene. Frick didn't know, because he read me the umpire's report and it didn't say.

"But he agreed with me that an umpire has no right to throw somebody out for what he reads in his mind and I agreed with him that if Durocher went up to the plate and talked to the catcher in an effort to embarrass the umpire, then he should have been ordered out.

"Well, is that a feud? I have a reputation as a feudist," he said, with a broad grin spreading over his freckled face, "so now anytime I talk to anyone people say I've got a new feud."

Leafs' Bantams Start Schedule

The Maple Leaf Athletic Club's Bantam Softball League got away to a start during the week when two of the four teams in the league met in the opening game at Parkdale school grounds. Captain Mike Mazuryk's Cubs emerged with a 15 to 8 victory over Captain Allan Richards' Dodgers.

Mike Mazurk, hurling for the Cubs and Allan Richards for the Dodgers kept hits well scattered and the game was closely contested until a number of errors in the Cubs' field allowed the Dodgers to forge ahead. Longest hit of the game went to Phil Joncas of the Cubs who knocked out a three bagger. The game was handled by the league's official umpires, O. Sollanych and F. Arnold.

The next game brings together the other two teams in the league captained by Walter Collingwood and Ernie Hooper on Tuesday evening at 7.00 p.m.

To advertise or not to advertise, when demand exceeds supply or when withdrawn completely from the domestic market, is one of the many problems that confront business today.

SHORTNESS of memory is a human shortcoming.

As an old and valued friend moves from our neighborhood—we lose contact—and a year or two hence his name is mentioned. We are startled to realize that in spite of our goodwill and best intentions we had all but forgotten a friend.

And, so it will be with those tradenames unsupported by advertising.

To say that you will ride on your momentum is simply another way of saying you are coming to a stop.

OTTAWA, May 11. — (CP)—Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, United Kingdom high commissioner to Canada, arrived here by air Saturday after a visit of several weeks in Britain.

Guarantees On Martinique Are Sought By U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—The state department announced Saturday night that a United States mission had requested guarantees from the local government of Martinique that that island and other French possessions in the area would not be used by the Axis or in any way become menaces to the United States.

The department declined to answer questions as to what would happen if the request were refused and emphasized that the conversations had begun in a spirit of friendliness.

Representing the United States at Martinique are Admiral John H. Hoover, commanding naval officer on the Caribbean sea front, and Samuel Reber, assistant chief of the division of European affairs in the state department.

Their requests were made to Admiral Georges Robert as French high commissioner.

The department said in a statement:

"The United States is prepared to safeguard the interests of France in these areas, to maintain their economic life, and to assure that all assets of the French government in the French Caribbean possessions be held for the ultimate use of the French people."

Volcano Eruption In Japan Reported As Catastrophic

BERLIN, May 11.—(AP)—Asama-Yama, Japan's largest active volcano, 100 miles northwest of Tokyo, had its greatest eruption in years Saturday night, according to Japanese dispatches yesterday. The extent of the damage has not yet been ascertained.

The German-controlled Brussells radio, heard in London, said a thick rain of cinders covered an area of many miles and described the eruption as a "catastrophe."

WEEKLY LIVESTOCK REPORT

Report from the Edmonton stockyards for the week ending May 9:

| Receipts— | Cattle | Calves | Hogs | Sheep |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sat. May 9 | 52 | 37 | 274 | ... |
| Week | 1150 | 239 | 1625 | 1 |

Under light receipts, trading was brisk throughout the past week, with prices fully steady on all classes. One of University of Alberta steers reached a new high of $10.75, and some strictly choice fed calves reached the same figure. Choice steers generally moved freely from $10¼ to $10½. Good to choice heifers were mostly from $9 to $9¾, with extreme tops $10. Light fleshy cows were strong, selling from $7¾ to $8¼, with a few at $8½. Good heavy cows were from $6½ to $7¼. The bulk of the bulls sold from $6 to $8¼, with the odd one at $8½. The following are the quotations:

Good to choice fed calves $9½ to $10½; good to choice steers $9½ to $10½, fair to medium $8½ to $9¼, common to fair $7 to $8¼; good to choice heifers $8¾ to $9¾, fair to medium $7¾ to $8¾, common to fair $6½ to $7½; good to choice light cows $7½ to $8¼, good to choice heavy cows $6½ to $7¼, fair to medium $6 to $7, common to fair $5¼ to $6; canners and cutters $4 to $5; bulls, $60 to $8.

Stockers and feeders were in good demand. Good warmed-up feeder steers traded from $8 to $8½, with odd tops $9. Heifers sold from $7 down, and stock cows $6 down.

Veal calves steady throughout, with good to choice handy weights $11 to $12. Insufficient good vealers on offer to meet the demand. Heavy and common calves were quoted from $10 down.

Hogs steady and unchanged, with basic for shipment $14.25, local sales $13¾. Sows sold live weight at $8 to $8½. Plants basic $13¾ to $13.85. A carcasses received a premium of $1 each, and C 1's were discounted $1½ each.

Swine Producers: Keep your hogs in clean, dry quarters to prevent crippling and scurvy skins. Many carcasses de-graded, due to being kept in unsanitary surroundings.

Lambs—Insufficient receipts to actually test the market. Good to choice handyweights unchanged at $10 to $11. Good handy weight ewes quoted $6 down.

Early Finish North Airport Is Announced

First in a chain of new all-season airports, to be constructed this summer by Canadian Pacific Airlines Ltd., on its Mackenzie River division, is expected to be ready at Fort McMurray within a month.

This was the announcement made Monday by W. J. Windrum, superintendent of the Mackenzie river division of C.P. Airlines Ltd., following his return from an inspection trip to Fort McMurray.

A new site has been chosen for the airport. It is a site about 8½ miles southeast of the town, where a fire burned the timber out last summer. As a result very little clearing is necessary.

Two runways, one 6,000 feet long, and the other 5,000 feet in length, will be constructed. They will both be gravelled.

TO COMPLETE ROAD

The eight-mile road to the field will be completed within a day or two. It also is being gravelled.

Charles Becker, general superintendent for C. P. Airlines, Western Lines, also returned from McMurray with Mr. Windrum.

A. M. "Matt" Berry, who is in charge of laying out the north airfields is remaining at Fort McMurray.

Other all-season fields will be completed this summer at Fort Smith and Yellowknife.

Germany sooner or later would use it.

Informants said the Allied cross-check of gas reports extended as far back as last January and showed that Germany was making preparations on a massive scale for gas warfare.

Reports included:

That large shipments of mustard gas had moved by trainloads in February, under heavy guard, through one district which serves the German front in the east.

That between January and March frequent shipments of gas in earthenware and glass containers, in addition to crates of gas shells of various calibres, has moved to the front, some crates marked "not to be opened except by special order."

That in a construction area near the eastern front large concrete gas reservoirs had been built.

That Germany had developed a six-barreled gun, called "Do Kanone," to throw grenades and shells filled with liquid gas of tremendous corrosive effect.

That preparations had been made to drop gas in large glass spheres, designed to break on contact and disperse widely.

War Pensioner Dead In Shack

William Leggett, 73-year-old war veteran, was found dead in his shack at 139 street and the river bank Saturday afternoon. He was found by Joe Laparde, 14305 103 avenue, who notified the city police.

After viewing the body Dr. E. A Braithwaite, chief provincial coroner, declared that death was due to natural causes. No inquest will be held.

Leggett was a veteran of the last war having enlisted with the 231st Battalion C.E.F. at Sidney, B.C. in 1916. He was a pensioner.

According to Laprade the deceased had been complaining of a cold for some time. It is believed he has a sister in Eastern Canada.

Funeral arrangements are under the direction of the Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. Burial will take place at 2 p.m. Tuesday with Canon A. M Trendell officiating at the Connelly and McKinley chapel and William "Paddy" Griffin in charge at the cemetery.

Flag Day

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked United States citizens Saturday night to honor the peoples of all the United Nations in observing Flag Day on June 14, because the United States is only one of 26 nations "fighting in the greatest cause the world has known" and "unless all triumph, all will fail."

Cardin Resign From Cabinet On Conscription

last week is now really past. In that event, Quebec as in 1917, will not oppose conscription as a unit. The ancient province will be divided with two ministers and a substantial number of members supporting conscription. Moreover, as time passes, and with the light always burning in the window, some of the bolters might return.

On this assumption, what lies ahead is a struggle for the mastery of Quebec between Mr. Cardin, the anti-conscriptionist, and Hon. Louis St. Laurent, Hon. C. G. Power and (this is a pretty fair assumption) Premier Godbout of Quebec. That Mr. Cardin has been at outs with all three since the emergence of the conscription issue is well known.

To judge today's situation, the background must be kept in mind.

The crisis of last week had nothing at all to do with the elimination of all the restrictions whereby conscription was limited on the National Mobilization Act to home defence. It was repeatedly stated that all the cabinet were agreed to amend the act in keeping with the decision of the people in the plebiscite.

Mr. Cardin, it is now learned, took little or no part in these discussions.

He was assumed to be favorable because he said nothing to the contrary. Yet his resignation now reveals him as opposed even to the amendment of this act. He emerges as an outright unpursuaded opponent of overseas conscription.

COME TO PARLIAMENT

The crisis arose with respect to how the government was to impose conscription when the time came. It was argued by Mr. St. Laurent and others that the government should come to parliament, declare that the voluntary system would no longer provide the men required and ask for parliament's approval before imposing conscription for overseas service. A number of ministers from the English-speaking provinces refused to agree to come back to parliament before imposing conscription. They would not agree to placing any restriction upon the power of the government to act when action became necessary.

Here was the crisis which threatened to bring about resignations whichever way the decision went.

VOLUNTARY SYSTEM

Mr. Cardin's unexpected resignation may well solve the difficulty. For one thing, it is reasonably clear that Mr. Power is for conscription. His resignation even if the St. Laurent formula was turned down is no longer deemed likely. And the whole point of the disagreement might be removed by a cabinet decision to give no undertakings of any kind as to how the government will deal with conscription when the time comes. With perhaps one exception on the English speaking side, all the ministers are prepared to retain the voluntary system until it fails to meet the needs of the army. The government may well decide to leave the detail of procedure — whether the government should seek the approval of parliament before or after the deed is done—to be decided when the time comes.

The Cardin resignation may greatly simplify this matter for the reason that as the senior minister from Quebec, Mr. Cardin has been a stumbling block in the path of all those who desire to try to win over Quebec. Everybody realizes the "yes" campaign in Quebec was a fizzle except where a real effort was made to discuss the issue of conscription frankly. No such discussion is reported from any part of Quebec where the Cardin influence predominated.

WAY NOW CLEAR

In a word, the way is now clear to carry on a real campaign in Quebec. Messrs. St. Laurent, Godbout and Power will have a chance to see what can be done. Nobody here believes that the Quebeckers are half as opposed to the will of the nation as Mr. Cardin seems to think.

Meantime, of course, it is clear that there is absolutely no chance of carrying all of the English speaking ministers on any proposition to commit the government to a return to parliament before imposing overseas conscription.

Police Baffled In Kidnapping Of London Baby

LONDON, Ont., May 11.—(CP)—Authorities reported last night they still were without "a fair lead to work on" in the kidnapping of six-months-old Barbara Ann Wood, who was taken from her carriage Friday while her 29-year-old mother, Mrs. Harry Wood, shopped in a downtown grocery store.

Officers spent weary hours during the week-end following vain clues of babies seen in "pink blankets" and reports of women seen running with children in their arms.

More than 150 Boy Scouts Saturday joined the hunt for the child as police followed up a dozen clues of women reported to have been seen carrying children.

The clues came in after two women told police they had seen a woman in a black hat carrying a baby wrapped in a pink blanket and said she attracted their attention by the unusual way she was carrying the infant.

With Royal Canadian Mounted Police also taking part in the search, the Scouts were detailed to scour parks, playgrounds and suburban areas on the theory the child may have been abandoned by her abductor.

Justice Howson On Appeal Bench

Mr. Justice W. R. Howson was sworn in Monday as a member of the Alberta Supreme court, appeal division, at a ceremony which was attended by members of the Edmonton Bar and the general public. The ceremony was conducted by Chief Justice Hon. Horace Harvey.

Prior to administering the oath Chief Justice Harvey referred to the service rendered by Mr. Justice Howson in the trial division, where he had proven himself an able and conscientious judge.

On behalf of the legal profession Charles H. Grant, K.C., congratulated Mr. Justice Howson on his elevation to the Appeal Court bench. He said that since his appointment to the Supreme Court bench the jurist had maintained the great traditions of the Bar in Alberta.

Thanking the Bench and Bar for their kindly references, Mr. Justice Howson said members of the bar had co-operated with him in rendering service to the public, and at all times the most cordial relations had existed between them.

Winter Having Final Fling On Russian Front

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, May 11—(AP)—Winter is having a final fling at Soviet Russia's northern and central fronts after playing the dominant part in the Soviet-German war for the last five months.

Military dispatches reported today there were snow flurries in some sectors while cold rains are falling as far south as the Kalinin front, more than 100 miles northwest of Moscow.

Soaked roads, these advices said, are impassable at some points, limiting the Red army's offensive operations.

In the Kalinin sector, dispatches said, the Russians drove the Germans from a strategically-important hill with aerial bombing, followed by infantry assault, forcing the enemy to abandon one of his main defence lines.

The Germans tried to wrest the initiative from the Russians three days ago in that area, military reports said, launching a frontal attack against Russian positions with a strong infantry force supported by 20 tanks.

Lodge Bookings "Extremely Good"

Bookings for Jasper Park Lodge this year are extremely good, and it is anticipated there will be little decline in the tourist traffic from the United States, Robert Sommerville, general manager, Canadian National hotels system, stated on his arrival here in the course of a tour of inspection of the system's hotels in western Canada.

Mr. Sommerville said the business anticipated at the "Lodge" this year will be from tourists who come and spend their entire holiday in the mountain resort. Gasoline and rubber restrictions, he added, will deter the tourist who made it a point of seeing as much territory as possible during the annual vacation.

He said that hotel business at the Pacific coast was good, as was business generally throughout the Dominion.

Formerly a clerk at the Macdonald hotel, Mr. Sommerville served for several years as manager of the Jasper Park Lodge, and was manager of the Nova Scotian at the time of his appointment to the general managership. He left Edmonton in 1931.

Sports Leader, Jack Bartley, Dies Suddenly

For many years a well-known city sports promoter and an employee of the superintendent's office, C.P.R., for more than 20 years, John B. Bartley, 63, passed away suddenly at his home at 10370 93 street, Monday morning.

Mr. Bartley was well known in sports and musical circles here for many years. Only recently had he retired from active participation in baseball league management.

Mr. Bartley came to Edmonton from Boston, Mass., 34 years ago. His wife, the former Nita Wells, and one son, John A., age 30, survive. John is at present with the R.C.A.F. at the manning depot.

POPULAR IN SPORTS

The late Mr. Bartley was widely known in local sports circles, particularly to Edmonton baseball fans. Following an active career in the latter sport, he was for many years manager of Senior League teams in the city, among them being the Independents and Young Liberals. He also held various executive posts with the baseball league prior to his retirement from active association with the game some years ago.

For more than 20 years he had been a clerk in the superintendent's office, C.P.R.

Death came suddenly as Mr. Bartley was helping with spring cleaning and furniture moving around the house.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

Wavell Re-Forms Armies In India

NEW DELHI, India, May 11. — (CP)—Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell poised three reorganized Indian armies to smash at Japanese invaders today as the Nipponese pushed northwestward toward the frontier in Burma and continued to gather an invasion fleet at Rangoon for a descent on Bengal.

The R.A.F., following up blows of the United States Air Force, which has sought to smash Japanese bases around Rangoon, struck again at Magwe, just south of the Yenangkaung oil fields in Burma, where the Japanese have occupied an airdrome. Blenheim bombers scored hits on the runways, a communique said.

Reorganizing his armies, Gen. Wavell announced three military commands in India had been changed from static bases of administration to fighting headquarters prepared to move wherever the enemy strikes.

Women Seeking Assistance In Salvage Drive

Assistance from the city will be sought by a delegation of the Edmonton salvage committee at the meeting of city council Monday night. Use of additional trucks or other vehicles will be asked for by the delegation in order to speed the pick-ups of salvage throughout the city, it was learned at the week-end.

At present the only facilities which have been provided with any regularity for pick-ups is a truck provided by the Edmonton Breweries Ltd., for use each morning during the week, except Saturdays, when the truck is available throughout the day.

Other vehicles have been loaned on a voluntary and part-time basis, but the owners are now showing concern for their tires and the vehicles are not being serviced with much regularity recently, it was learned.

Tremendous numbers of telephone calls are being received by the salvage headquarters, reporting salvage available for pick-ups, but because of the inadequacy of available transportation, delays have occurred.

It is hoped that more suitable arrangements can be made through co-operation by civic authorities.

Small Carry-Over Forage Crop Seed

Little or no carry-over of forage crop seed is expected in Alberta following spring seeding, it was stated on Monday by officials of the Alberta Seed Growers' Association.

With the 1941-42 forage crop seed season drawing to a close, it is quite apparent that there will be a shortage of alfalfa, sweet clover and red clover seed, the officials stated.

There will likely be a considerable surplus of brome seed, and a lesser surplus of crested wheat grass seed.

National Drive Of Red Cross Now Under Way

Opening guns of the Canadian Red Cross Society drive for funds in northern Alberta were fired Monday morning when more than 200 city canvassers attended a breakfast meeting in the Empire Room of the Hudson's Bay Company.

Objective for northern Alberta in the national drive is $160,000.

R. H. Settle, Edmonton campaign manager, presided at the meeting and seated with him at the head table were Mayor John W. Fry, J. A. MacArthur, Elmer E. Roper, John D. Dower, and C. N. Chubb, members of the drive committee, and special guests.

Mr. Roper, president of the Edmonton branch of the society, addressed the meeting on the work of the Canadian Red Cross. Mr. MacArthur expressed appreciation of the Hudson's Bay Company having loaned the Empire Room for the breakfast meeting.

Donation of $2,500 has been received by campaign headquarters in Edmonton from the Red Cross Superfluity shop on 102 street. The shop was opened in September, 1940, by Mrs. R. S. McLaughlin and several other Edmonton women.

RAISED MONEY

Since its establishment the shop has raised $7,100, with an expenditure of only $450. The shop is in the store of C. R. Frost, who donated the space.

Of the funds raised $3,100 has been used to purchase a mobile kitchen; $1,500 has been donated to the Edmonton branch of the Red Cross and $2,500 given to the 1942 campaign of the national society.

Although the campaign only opened on Monday morning word has already been received that Dewberry, a small community due east of Edmonton and near the Saskatchewan border, has already reached its objective in the annual drive. The objective was $150.

Road Projects Now Underway

Two major projects in Alberta's highway program this year are now underway, it was reported Monday by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works.

A crew is now working in the Kilsocty sector of the 30-mile gap on the Jasper highway between Vermilion and Lloydminster.

Reconstruction work has also commenced on the Lethbridge-Taber stretch of the Medicine Hat road.

He had no further announcement to make regarding the 1942 highway program, the minister said. Revision of this program was made necessary by the action of the Federal oil controller in refusing the province's application for fuel oil in connection with highway surfacing projects. The application was rejected due to war priorities.

John W. McClung New President Princess Pats

John Wesley McClung, K.C., was elected president of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Battalion association at the annual dinner gathering of the association held in the Edmonton Club Saturday evening.

Mr. McClung, crown prosecutor for the judicial district of Edmonton, succeeds Paul Chapleau, who headed the association last year. The new president was vice president in 1941.

Prior to the dinner meeting, those in attendance marched to the cenotaph, where the many comrades who made the supreme sacrifice in 1914-18, were honored by a commemorative wreath placed at the base.

The veterans were headed by two pipers from the old Princess Pats pipe band.

The meeting is held each year to commemorate in particular the deathless defence of the Pats at St Eloi on May 8, 1915. In this engagement the men of the Princess Pats shattered the flower of the German army, who were attempting to slash through to the channel. The regiment suffered heavy losses but the Huns were stopped in their tracks.

The speaker gave a highly interesting description of the new Canadian army and of the many new pieces of mechanized equipment that differ from the equipment used in the last Great War.

"OLD COMRADES"

About 35 attended the meeting, including quite a few old comrades from other parts of the province.

Phil Galbraith, of Red Deer, and Lieut. Grant, from the Camrose training centre, were among those present.

Sgt. Gower, back to serve as an instructor after serving overseas with the Edmonton Regiment for the past two years, was an honored guest. He came with his father, a member of the old fighting Pats.

Fraser M. Gerrie was continued as secretary-treasurer of the association.

Harrison Sergeant-Major F. W. Purkiss, who served with the battalion in the last war, was also an honored guest.

Following were elected to the association executive:

Ed Robertson, George Mackintosh, Andy McCulloch, Vic Horner, Norman Campbell and C. H. Baker.

C.N.R. Employee, A. Walker, Dies

Employee of the Canadian National Railways for the past nine years, Archibald Walker, 25, of 9120 80 avenue, died in a city hospital Monday morning after an illness of three and a half months.

He was born in and received his schooling in this city. He was a telegraph operator and had worked for the C.N.R. in Calgary for two summers in addition to his work in Edmonton.

He is survived by his wife, the former Audrey Waite, a sister, Mrs. W. W. Insull and a brother, John Andrew Walker, on active service with the Royal Canadian Ordinance Corps.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at Howard and McBride's funeral chapel, Rev. Elgin G. Turnbull officiating. Burial will be in the Beechmount cemetery.

Six Minor Crashes During Week-End

Only six minor traffic accidents were reported to city traffic police at the week end. In only one instance was damage to the vehicles considerable and in no case was there injury to persons involved.

Joseph LaPlant, Goodfish Lake, truck driver, crashed into a parked car at 11:30 p.m. Saturday to cause considerable damage to the front of his truck and to the rear of the car.

W. Peters, 11402 97 street, had his car parked south of the Hope Mission, just north of the 101 street subway, when LaPlant drove out of the subway and struck the parked car.

LaPlant told police that he had turned his head upon hearing a noise and did not realize the driver of the crash occurred. The truck's front axle, windshield frame, right fender and radiator were damaged and the rear of Peters' auto suffered extensive damage.

Prepayment of first instalment of current city taxes up to May 9 amounted to $107,623.71 compared with $74,137.20 for the same period last year, an increase of $33,486.51, it was announced Monday by Thos. Walker, city assessor. The first instalment payment period ends on May 16.

Official Dies

J. A. McNeil, secretary-manager of the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Motor Association, and former circulation manager of The Edmonton Bulletin, whose death occurred in a city hospital Sunday night.

James McNeil, Auto Official, Dies: 58 Years

James A. McNeil, 58, 10440 81 avenue, secretary-manager of the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Motor Association for the past 15 years, died in an Edmonton hospital Sunday night following a short illness.

Mr. McNeil was born in Bobcaygeon, Ont., in 1884, and taught school in Eastern Canada before coming west in 1909 to Hardisty, Alta., to teach there. Shortly after, he came to Edmonton and was with The Edmonton Bulletin, as circulation manager, for 17 years.

In 1926 he became secretary-manager of the local branch of the motor association, and held the post until his death.

INTERESTED IN SPORTS

Keenly interested in sports throughout his life, he managed girls' intermediate and junior hockey teams for about nine or ten years.

Mr. McNeil is survived by his wife, the former Adaline Fagan of Olds, Alta., one daughter, Phyllis, one son, Edward, and one brother, William, all of Edmonton.

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Knox United church. Rev. R. McElroy officiating. Burial will officiate and interment will take place in the Edmonton cemetery. Hainstock and Son are directors of service.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

What do you think of the proposal mooted in Great Britain that all civilians may soon be required to wear army battle dress in order to simplify manufacture of clothing and also save cloth? Do you think it would be a good measure to adopt in Canada?

THE ANSWERS

W. RICHARDSON, war veteran: I think the measure is a bit extreme for Canada at this stage. The idea of everyone wearing uniform in a total war is a good one, but I think there should be a little variety. Mass production of clothing is after all a fairly simple matter and a slight change of design or material is hardly a problem with modern methods of clothing manufacture. Of course Britain is in a different position, dependent as she is on importation from overseas of all raw clothing materials.

W. JANIS, salesman: It will probably come to something like that here if the war lasts a long time. Actually, the United States did have a plan of this nature ready to set up when the last war ended. It would certainly mean a great saving in both material and labor, in the case of women we might run into difficulties. All complexions wouldn't match up with khaki. Some plan that permitted a few basic colors would probably overcome the objection.

• • •

JAMES ALLAN, telephone lineman: If a soldier has to wear battle dress all the time why should not the civilian dress up with the same thing? I'm all for it, providing everyone is treated exactly alike.

Arrives Overseas

AB. Clayton Griffith, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Griffith, 8305 119 avenue, has arrived safely overseas, according to information received by his parents. Another son, Gunner Stanley Griffith, is also on active service with the navy.

The Alberta School of Religion will meet at Fairweather camp, 12 miles west of Calgary, July 21-30. The lecturer from "country other than our own" will be Dr. Sherwood Eddy of New York. Dr. Eddy will give a series of talks on Discovering God and popular lectures on Asia, Russia, Winning the War and Peace, etc. Arrange your holiday so that you may have the inspiration of this school. For full particulars apply to A. H. Rowe, Gleichen, or H. M. Horricks, Medicine Hat.

Alex. Riddell Urged As New Police Chief

Recommendation of Sergt.-Major Alex Riddell as successor to Chief of Police A. G. Shaw, who is retiring on pension at June 30 next, is contained in a communication from the Second Great War Veterans' Association to the city council. The letter will come before that body at its meeting on Monday night.

The communication states that the association has received a number of requests from members "to write in regards to the appointment of a new police chief," and as our organization "most heartily recommends Sergt-Major Riddell."

It is pointed out that Mr. Riddell has served for a number of years on the police force, and has a record that is outstanding. Also consideration should be given to the fact that he is a veteran of the last war.

"We feel that one of our own men should be appointed to this position, rather than bringing someone in from an outside point," the letter concludes.

Getting Around
Jack DeLong

Shades of Tom Swift!

Don't be frightened if you look up one of these days and see an airplane droning along in front of a long string of noiseless planes. It will be merely a glider train, the Limited of the sky that may soon become commonplace, declares President E. F. McDonald of the Zenith Radio Corporation.

According to Mr. McDonald, gliders, towed by powered planes, were used with success by the Germans in their drive through Belgium and France two years ago and later in the occupation of Crete.

Gliders, loaded with armed troops, were released from tow lines at high altitude, to drift down silently to a landing.

They can be built to land at 20 miles an hour, states Mr. McDonald. At this rate they are comparable to land safely on very rough terrain and very small fields.

And gliders are quite inexpensive. For this reason, Mr. McDonald suggests their large scale production for cargo-carrying purposes as well as for troop transport. One transport plane can tow up to 10 gliders each, having practically the same carrying capacity as the powered plane.

Mr. McDonald writes that he proposed development of radio-controlled glider torpedoes to an admiral of the United States Navy in 1930. The glider torpedo would permit, of remote control from a power plane miles away from the target at a safe altitude for the plane.

These glider-torpedoes could be produced much more cheaply than water torpedoes but would have just as devastating an effect, he contends.

He predicts these torpedoes will be used in a short time. He also notes with satisfaction that the United States Army is teaching many thousands of men to soar in gliders.

It will be remembered that Germany built the foundations of the Luftwaffe from glider clubs formed for the purpose of circumventing treaty clauses that restricted the establishment of an air force.

Washington has at last confirmed earlier Tokyo announcements concerning the raids on Japanese cities on April 18. It is now definite that American planes made the raids. But the Japs already know where the planes came from and wouldn't they love to know.

The visit of American planes hurtling down with their loads of death from a clear, sunny sky at the hour of noon, must have caused a panic among the inhabitants of the Nippon capital. And the reports state the Yank planes daringly skimmed over the rooftops, dodging barrage balloons to drop their lethal loads on places where they just couldn't miss.

Veterans Parade Next Friday Night

Men of the South Edmonton Battalion, Veterans' Volunteer Reserve will meet in the Garneau school, on Friday night, to be shown a new group of films on Air Raid Precaution work. Warden of the South Edmonton area will also attend, and the general public is invited.

During this week the wardens will register all A.R.P. volunteers capable of doing first-aid, nursing, messenger and delivery work in co-operation with district and zone first-aid posts to be established.

Blood Bank To Be Established Edmonton Soon

Detailed plans for the establishment of a blood bank in Edmonton will be formulated at a special meeting at national headquarters of the Canadian Red Cross Society in Toronto, Monday, members of the provincial executive of the society were advised at a luncheon meeting Saturday.

The blood-processing plant will be established at the University of Alberta to handle donations of whole blood by 4,000 donors, most of whom are already enrolled.

Provincial commissioner of the society, Lt.-Col. H. H. Pomlinson addressed the meeting and praised the set-up of the Red Cross campaign committee in Edmonton.

TORONTO SPEAKER

Another speaker was Mrs. Ernest Lee of Toronto, supervisor of nutrition work by the Red Cross in Canada, who visited in Edmonton in the course of survey of nutrition work being conducted across the Dominion. She paid tribute to Dr. L. P. Pelt, formerly of the University of Alberta and now director of the national educational nutrition campaign.

City Is Urged To Prepare For Post-War Needs

Agreement that immediate consideration should be given to the problem of rehabilitation of former members of the Canadian armed forces is contained in a communication from Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of national health and pensions, received by Alfred Russell, city clerk.

The communication, which acknowledged a resolution of city council dealing with rehabilitation, will come before the council at Monday night's meeting.

MEASURES CITED

In his communication, Hon. Mr. Mackenzie cites a number of important measures already enacted to assist in the rehabilitation of ex-service men.

Among these measures are:

"A reconditioning policy before discharge from hospital, rehabilitation grant, broadening of the Pension Act, extension of treatment regulations, provision for compulsory reinstatement of men in former employment, preference to discharged men in war contracts, preference in the civil service, establishment of a veterans' welfare division, etc.

"The most outstanding measure is that of the Post Discharge Re-establishment Order, P.C. 7633, copy of which I enclose herewith, together with an information leaflet.

PROVIDES BENEFITS

"This order provides benefits while awaiting employment, an opportunity to acquire a skill, security while awaiting returns from farm or business, or while temporarily incapacitated, provision for resuming interrupted education, and credit for service for unemployment insurance purposes.

"A land settlement bill has had its second reading in the House of Commons and has been referred to a special parliamentary committee.

"A committee on reconstruction is also giving consideration to economic conditions after the war, and it is hoped that by co-operation between the dominion, provincial and municipal authorities, measures may be considered which will result in fuller utilization of all our resources and fuller employment for all our people."

You're One Date Girl If Monologist

Boys Shun Women Who Brag, Are Cold Diggers, Fault-Finders and Have 'Too Much Family"; Don't Pursue a Man Obviously

A great many girls who are pretty and bright, well-dressed and attractive-looking, wonder why they are one-date women, or no-date women; why they have to spend their evenings at home with Mamma and Papa, reading an improving book while other girls with not half their line of charm, are stepping out with the lads and having a good time? Well, daughters, if a girl fails to make a hit with the boys, it is because she does not know her groceries. It is because she hasn't gumption enough to perceive what qualities will tole a man to her and make him eat out of her hand and what will scare the timid dear off so he will take to his heels and she will never see him again. Now there are many things that a girl can do that get on a boy's nerves and cause him to pass her by, but generally speaking, when a girl is dateless it is for one or the other of the following reasons:

Dorothy Dix

(1) Her home conditions. Heaven knows poor dear Sally isn't to blame for having a father who is a grouch, and a mother with an 11 o'cleck bedtime complex, and a swarm of little brothers and sisters. They were wished on her. Nevertheless she has to suffer the consequences. Boys just naturally do not like to go to a house where the family sit around and eavesdrop the conversation, where they have to go turn off the radio because it keeps Grandma awake and where, when they take Sally out, Mother sits up with a stop watch in her hand to see that she gets home in time to go to roost with the chickens. Many a girl is an old maid because her parents put the "no admission" sign instead of "welcome" on the door.

(2) Bragging. Many girls think that they make themselves desirable to boys by boasting of their conquests. According to their stories, they just stand them up in rows and slay 'em. And the number of millionaires and glamor boys whose hearts they have broken sounds like the casualty list on the Russian front. This is a fatal move for a girl to make, for no man wants his scalp to be Exhibit-A in a girl's collection of men I could have married and didn't, so he beats it while the going is good.

DON'T GOLD-DIG

(3) Gold-digging. The reason many a boy drops a girl at her door with a dull, cold thud after one date and never pays a return engagement is because she is too expensive. She won't go to any but the swankiest places of amusement. She orders the highest priced dishes at a restaurant. And she has at least three birthdays a year. One evening out with her sends the lad to a free lunch counter for a month. And that's enough for him. No encores.

(4) Fault-finding. There is the girl that nothing pleases and who is about as cheery a companion for an evening as a wet blanket would be. The weather never suits her. The movie is always rotten. The food at the restaurant is bum. The jazz band lousy.

MEN ARE THE HUNTERS

(5) Pursuing. Men still like to think that they are the hunters and instead of the hunted, and nothing scares them off so completely as for a girl to stalk them in the open and show she is determined to get them. A boy likes for a girl to show that she admires him and enjoys his company, but when she throws herself at him he dodges. She is too easy. She has taken all the sport out of the game.

(6) Showing off. When a woman wants to make herself attractive to a man she naturally puts her best foot foremost, but in so doing she generally puts her foot in it, poor thing. She doesn't know that men prefer women's faults to their virtues and the more blundering they are, the better they like 'em. And, most important of all, she doesn't know that no man ever forgives a woman for surpassing him in his own line. No girl ever yet got a husband by shaking a college diploma in his face, nor is any girl ever pressed to play golf or tennis with a lad whom she can beat with one hand tied behind her.

(7) Monologuing. Men like girls who keep the conversational ball rolling, but they want it to roll their way. As long as a girl can tell a boy about how wonderful he is he will hang entranced on her words, but when she begins to talk about herself he grabs his hat and goes home, which should be a sufficient hint to a wise virgin.

OLD MAN'S LOVE

Dear Miss Dix: In early manhood I fell in love with a charming girl, but she married a wealthier man.

Disappointed, I moved to a different part of the world where I have been lucky enough to amass a fortune. Later, at the age of 73, I returned to my old home town to find my boyhood sweetheart a widow with a daughter. We renewed our courtship and within two weeks were married. Five months later her daughter whom I had never seen before, came home from school and we fell desperately in love with each other. What shall I do? I do not wish to hurt my wife, yet I have many years left and I desire them to be happy ones.—G. A. M.

ANSWER: You are the victim of a delusion. The girl looks like her mother did 50 years ago and you think you are in love with her because she is the incarnation of your old romance, but if you were married to her you would find it was only the dream you loved, not the girl herself.

Alas, there is no way in which you can turn back the hands of the clock and make yourself a boy again and so be a suitable husband for a school girl.

LINOLEUM DO'S

Here are some do's to observe if you would have your kitchen linoleum give the best service: Go up with a soft cloth or mop wrung out of warm, very mild soapsuds; follow with another soft cloth wrung out of clear warm water, washing only a small area of the floor at a time; sweep up daily with a soft hair floor brush; after washing, when floor is entirely dry, apply a coat of wax. Rub the wax down well if you do not use the self-polishing type.

Everyone feels so intimate, so gay, singing cowboy songs at a party! Crowded 'round a songbook, you relish every verse!

Where the wild coyo-o-tes wi-hill howl e'er me!"

And what about "Home On The Range," someone demands, and regales that you sing the lovely second verse, too!

"Where the air is so pure and the zephyrs so free,

And the breezes so balmy and light—

That I would not exchange my home on the range

"I'm a-leaving Cheyenne, I'm off to Montan',

No Ingredients Wasted In Tasty Dessert Recipes

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Even on Mother's Day, the wartime rule is "waste no food." Whether mother herself prepares the Mother's Day menu for her son in uniform home for the day, or whether the young daughter of the house does the cooking, neither sugar nor shortening nor any ingredient must be wasted.

STRAWBERRY BAVARIAN PIE

One package strawberry fruit-flavored gelatin, 1 1-3 cups hot water, ¼ cup sugar, dash of salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 cups strawberries, crushed, 1 cup heavy cream, 1 baked 9-inch pie shell.

Strawberry Bavarian pie is special surprise treat for the son home on leave from the service.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add sugar, salt, and lemon juice. Chill until cold and syrupy. Add strawberries. Fold in cream, whipped only until thick and shiny, but not stiff. Chill. When slightly thickened, turn into cold pie shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

Note: One box quick-frozen strawberries, thawed, may be substituted for crushed strawberries in this recipe. Omit sugar.

JELLY TARTS

(10 Servings)

Pastry: 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup shortening, 6 to 8 tablespoons ice water.

Filling: 2-3 cup currant or strawberry jelly.

Pastry: Sift together dry ingredients; cut the shortening into the flour with a pastry blender or two knives until it is the size of lima beans. Add the water slowly, mixing it into the pastry mixture just enough so it will hold together.

Roll out the dough on a floured board. With a round pastry cutter, about four inches in diameter, make 20 circles. In 10 of these circles cut out an inside circle about one inch in diameter. Place the pastry circles in two-quart utility dishes and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 18 minutes.

When the pastry is cool, place a tablespoon of jelly in the center of each plain jelly round, and top with

Tomorrow's Menu

What To Do

Must wedding gifts be returned when the wedding does not take place?

Answer—Wedding gifts should be returned immediately when a wedding is definitely called off. The "bride-to-be" should write a short note but need not give any reason for the change of plan. Merely to say that there will be no wedding is sufficient.

When a wedding is not going to take place and invitations have been sent out, the invitations must be recalled. This can be done, if there is time, by sending out engraved or printed cards, which read:

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Jones beg to recall the invitation to the marriage of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth on Saturday, May 23.

If there is not time for this, then someone in the family must telephone each person who has received an invitation, and recall that invitation.

Opening—♠J. 11

Anticipating a cross-ruff, West opened the jack of spades. While his inference was wrong, his lead was a killer. Dummy played low and L. D. Boone of Grenada, Miss., sitting East, set the stage for a swindle by playing the queen. South won with the ace.

Now the scientific mind of the expert goes to work. He has to figure out whether West originally held the jack-ten-seven of trumps or just the jack-seven. The declarer played a small trump and finessed dummy's nine-spot. Boone won with the ten and the apparent cold contract went down one trick.

LUNCHEON DISH

Here's a luncheon dish that will go over big, but is simple to prepare. Hot biscuits split and buttered and filled and topped with a medium white sauce to which cooked shrimp and sliced hard-cooked eggs have been added. Sprinkle tops with grated cheese for an extra flavor fillip.

The word salad is taken from the Latin and literally means "salted", although this word is usually applied to that part of a meal containing a mixture of both raw foods and cold cooked foods.

The principal part of a salad is generally composed of uncooked non-starchy vegetables, although cold cooked vegetables such as asparagus, string beans or peas, and also shredded meats, chicken and fish, may be added.

Salad should be an important item in at least two meals of the day and should preferably be served at the beginning of the meal, which assures the diner of getting enough of the raw green vegetables before the other foods of a high calorie value are eaten.

Most salads are over-seasoned, a great variety of dressings being used. The person with a jaded appetite will probably eat more salad when a highly seasoned dressing is used, but from a health standpoint I believe that the plainer the salad dressing, the better.

Most of the vegetables listed as non-starchy make pleasing additions to salad. To these may be added avocado and olives, both of which blend in well with the flavors of both foods, and lend themselves to this particular type of combination. Inofar as the usual fruits are concerned, I suggest that only one kind of fruit be used as a salad ingredient. As an example, when you are adding pineapple to the salad, do not add any other fruit at the same time.

When most people think of salad they think of lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers. These are excellent, but there are many others which may be used, which will be found equally valuable and appetizing.

At this season, when the fresh asparagus is so plentiful, the cold cooked stalks may be added to salads and will provide a pleasing flavor. At other seasons, the canned variety is commonly used.

Celery is a well known addition to salads, being esteemed not only for its flavor, but for a certain delicate crispness which it imparts.

The green leafy vegetables such as watercress, small spinach leaves, endive, etc., are also of value. In using parsley, I suggest that you either mince it fine, or grind it in a food chopper and try adding it to the usual salad.

Naturally each cook has his or her own salad recipes, which are known from experience to appeal to the family for whom they are prepared. However, if you would like to look over some additional salad recipes, you are welcome to send for Dr. Frank McCoy's article called "Health Salad Recipes." This may provide you with some new ideas to try out from time to time.

Salads are so beneficial to health in such a variety of ways that I may sincerely recommend them to you. Serve them often. When you go out into the kitchen today to plan your dinner menu, start by planning a delicious salad. Choose that first and then build the rest of the meal around this diet of succulent green vegetables.

All questions regarding Health and Diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McSt., Los Angeles, Calif.

There is an old superstition that moonlight has something to do with insanity. Because the ancients believed this they called insane people "lunatics" (meaning moon-struck). They believed that sleeping in the direct rays of a full moon would cause people to lose their minds; and that when the moon became full each time thereafter, the mental disturbance was worse. All this has been exploded by modern medical research, and there appears to be no relation whatever between insanity and moonlight. It is much better to sleep in full moonlight than to sleep with poor air—at least as far as temperate climates are concerned.

More Women To Be Called For War Work In Britain

By DENISE DALTROFF

LONDON, May 11.—(CP)—More women must work in this war is the word Labor Minister Bevin has for the women of Britain, nearly 8,000,000 of whom are registered for full-time war work with half of this number already called up.

To bolster production the immediate emphasis now is on part-time workers and Mobile Employment Exchanges are being used to recruit women, a move which is still in the experimental stages.

So far mobile recruiting has been confined to Middlesex county, a highly-populated residential district with many local factories. Labor ministry officials say they consider the first response to the experiment gratifying to the extent that mobile employment exchanges may be sent through the length and breadth of the land.

During the first excursion of the first mobile unit 75 women registered within four hours and of these 44 were given immediate part-time jobs as machinists, assemblers, domestic workers in hospitals and canteens and in laundries.

The mobile employment exchange was conceived when the ministry of labor and national service felt there would be more volunteers for part-time endeavor if the employment exchanges went to women instead of waiting for women to come to the employment exchanges from which in many cases are three or four miles from the women's homes.

The first mobile exchange is an old ambulance equipped with loud speakers. On drawing up in an area where women are shopping for their rations or on any of the jobs which take a housewife out of doors, a labor ministry official appeals to passers-by to volunteer for part-time work and stresses the urgency of his case in these words: "Part-time women war workers are as important as Commandos."

REGISTER AND WORK

The women reached by the mobile exchange need only step a few minutes to register and if immediate employment is wanted they are given a card of introduction to a local employer. Some authorities say, specify the type of work they would prefer or in which they are experienced. Then the exchange tries to find them such a job locally. A woman employment officer registers the women, the floor of the van being used as a table. She keeps a record of all vacancies in local factories.

Labor authorities report there is a great potential of women workers, the only bar to their employment being their family responsibilities. To overcome this hundreds of creches and day nurseries have been opened all over the country where working women can leave their children during the day.

WORK IN SHIFTS

The women volunteer for either the morning or afternoon shift, the hours varying in each factory but generally being from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. for the morning trick and from 1 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. for afternoon labor.

This allows time for women to do their shopping and housework and for the few hours they are away from home most mothers can arrange for neighbors to look after their children should nursery facilities not be available.

Wages vary from the equivalent of $6.08 to $6.75 a week with an increase as the workers become more proficient. Already British has 1,000 women employed in part time work.

The latest class of women notified to register for compulsory call-up to full-time endeavor is the 41-year-old group and consideration is being given to registering women up to the age of 45 or 50. While the young women called up are more generally directed into the services the older ones are all sent into factories.

IS MARRIED

Mrs. B. R. Rae, the former Miss Jessie Skene of Calgary, whose marriage to Sqdrn. Ldr. Bruce Robert Rae, R.N.Z.A.F., took place in Chalmers United Church in Ottawa on Saturday afternoon.

Jessie Skene Is Bride Of Sqn. Ldr. Rae

OF INTEREST to friends in Edmonton, where she is well-known in university circles, is the announcement of the marriage of Jessie Myers Skene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Skene, of Calgary, to Squadron Leader Bruce Robert Rae, Royal New Zealand Air Force, liaison officer at Ottawa. Sqn. Ldr. Rae is the son of Mrs. F. F. Rae and the late Mr. Rae of Wellington, New Zealand.

The pretty wedding took place at Chalmers United church in Ottawa on Saturday afternoon, with Rev J. W. Woodside, D.D., officiating. Miss Skene gave her daughter in marriage.

Following the wedding the reception was held in the Rideau Laurier hotel. Sqn. Ldr. and Mrs. Rae will spend a short honeymoon at the Seigniory Club and will then take up residence in Ottawa.

Mrs. Rae is well known in Edmonton where she has many friends. She is a graduate of the University of Alberta and a member of Pi Beta Phi women's fraternity. Prior to her marriage she was home service director with the Calgary Gas Company in Calgary, and later a member of the field nutrition services, department of pensions and health at Ottawa.

Dr. R. Newton Is Speaker At Luncheon

In an effort to build up goodwill among the members of the Alumni Association of the University of Alberta, members of the Edmonton branch of the association entertained on Saturday at a luncheon in the Jasper room of the Macdonald hotel, Dr. Robert Newton, actingpresident of the University, was the speaker.

U. OF A. WAR WORK

In his after-luncheon speech Dr. Newton outlined the work the university is doing in connection with the war, the contributions in both men and materials that the University is making. He touched briefly on the wartime research being done within the University at the present time. Dr. Newton spoke briefly on the future expansion of the university, the rearrangement of courses, the acceleration of courses such as medicine and dentistry and the addition of new courses to the curriculum all for war purposes.

Dr. Newton told of the organization of separate alumni groups being formed by the Medical Faculty and the Faculty of Education. These two groups will work separately as well as through the general alumni organization.

Discussing the history of the Canadian-wide University of Alberta Alumni, Dr. Newton told of the increased importance of the organization since in the University Act the Alumni are to have representation on the Board of Governors.

The luncheon was the first affair of its kind to be held by the Alumni organization.

Wedding Vows Exchanged At Tabernacle

STANDARDS of willowy ferns and palms graced the British Tabernacle on Saturday evening, forming a pretty setting for the wedding ceremony, at which Ines Alice, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sheane of Edmonton, became the bride of Mr. George Gilbert Robinson, of Regina, Sask. Rev. J. D. Carlson officiated.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She was becomingly attired in heavy white moire designed floor-length, with pointed neckline, long sleeves, girdled waist and full skirt. The waistline was marked with tiny covered buttons. Caught to her head with a halo of valley lilies, her veil of white bridal net cascaded in soft folds to the floor. An arm bouquet of delicate pink roses completed her ensemble.

Miss Dorothy Sheane was her sister's only attendant. She wore a floor length gown of soft blue silk, fashioned with an embroidered Peter Pan collar, full waistline and full skirt. Her sleeves were long and in bishop style, and the bodice of her frock was marked with scroll embroidery. Completing her outfit, she wore a shoulder length blue veil and carried a bouquet of spring blossoms.

Mr. Jack Green supported the bridegroom as best man. Ushering guests to their pews were Mr. Ineri Robertson and Mr. Donald Miller.

Following the ceremony, the best wishes and congratulations of about 50 friends were tendered the bridal pair, at a reception held in the Royal George hotel.

After a wedding trip to Yorkton, Sask., the couple will take up residence in Regina. For travelling, the bride wore rose silk redingote ensemble and blue accessories. Her topcoat was of wine tone.

Mrs. J. Gibson, Recent Bride Is Honored At Tea

SOUTH Edmonton home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Marshall was bright with spring blossoms on Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. Marshall entertained in honor of her daughter, Mrs. John E. Gibson, the former Miss Catherine Marshall, a recent bride.

More than sixty guests called during the afternoon. Mrs. Marshall, who wore for the occasion a formal tea gown of deep grey crepe, simply styled, and accented with a shoulder corsage of pastel-toned sweet peas. Mrs. Gibson, receiving with her mother, wore a smart red and white silk jersey print afternoon frock and a corsage of white blossoms.

Slender tapers in pastel tones lighted the tea table, which was centred with a bowl of spring blossoms. Pouring tea were Mrs. Ernest Meaden, Mrs. Robert Thurston and Mrs. Melvin Marshall. Assisting in the vileurs were Miss Grace Adamson, Mrs. Melvin Marshall, Mrs. Sydney Smith and Miss Muriel Marshall.

City Nurses Attend Worship Service On Sunday Evening

MAINTAIN your enthusiasm and serve God." Thus spoke Dr. W. G. Wilson, M.A., D.D., at the annual devotional service of the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses, Edmonton District No. 7, on Sunday evening. The service was held in Robertson United church.

In the body of the church the diverse uniforms of the graduate nurses and those who are still receiving their training provided a colorful picture. Ushers were undergraduate nurses in their crisp white and blue. Members of the Overseas Nursing Sisters' Association were present wearing the flowing white headdress of their organization, their white uniforms, the short red and black capes, and many of them the medals for outstanding service won in the war of 1914-18. In distinct contrast to these Sisters of the first Great War were the army and air force nurses of the present war in their trim khaki or air force blue uniforms.

The Victorian Order of Nurses was also represented, its delegates in their smart navy uniforms. From the Misericordia hospital, the University, the Misericordia, the General and the Royal Alexandra, there were representatives of the staff in their gleaming white. Behind them in order came the graduates of the four hospitals with their hospital pins glistening, the undergraduates in their pink or blue and white uniforms, many of them carrying the scarlet and navy capes of their profession. Even the choir was composed of ten representatives from each of the hospitals.

Everywhere throughout the church, among nurses and spectators alike, the red or white carnation proclaimed the day to be Mother's Day. In front of the pulpit was arranged a huge bowl of deep red roses.

ADDRESS

Enlarging on his simple theme Dr. Wilson gave the nurses some practical suggestions at what he called their rededication service. "We must all remember," said Dr. Wilson, "that it is easy to give advice but hard to take it."

Dr. Wilson gave his listeners some simple "don'ts" to guide them. The first of these was a word against letting the drudgery of their training cloud their final goal, or make their enthusiasm flag. His second piece of advice was to always remember that they were dealing with sub-normal people, people that were sick in body or in mind and they must always keep their patience and their tolerance. "Don't let professionalism get the better of you," warned Dr. Wilson. "Don't ever lose the human touch, a very easy thing to do."

HEALING PROFESSION

"Remember always the sacredness of your trust, remember always that yours is a professional and sacred, not even the preaching of the Gospels, for the one is the healing of the body, the other the healing of the soul.

"If at all times during your life as a nurse, both as an undergraduate and as a professional," concluded Dr. Wilson, "you can say to yourself, 'I have done the best that I could,' no one can ask more of you."

Hymns for the devotional service were chosen with special significance for nursing sisters already at any of the many battle fronts or on the high seas.

The arrangements were made by Miss Catherine Clibborn, of the University hospital, convener; Sister Florence Neuhausel, Mrs. O. Porrit, Miss Margaret Fraser, Miss Gertrude Allyn, Miss Rita Bell and Miss Helen Peters.

War Work Club At Eaton's To Present Play

Business folk will turn actors and actresses in the near future when members of Eaton's Girls' War Work Club of T. Eaton Co. (Western Limited) present a play, "The Courting of Marie Jenvrin", to men of No. 3, Manning Depot, R.C.A.F., Edmonton.

The play was written by Gwen Pharis Ringwood, of Goldfields, Saskatchewan, formerly of Edmonton. Mrs. Elizabeth Sterling Haynes is directing it.

Rehearsals are being held weekly for the play, the most recent one having taken place in the Macdonald hotel on Sunday afternoon. The club concerns itself with war work, knitting and providing comforts for active service units. The play is in their "war work" programs, too.

In the play are Miss Jeanne Boulay, Miss M. Pettinger, Mr. C. J. M. Deschenes, Mr. W. M. Liefke, Mr. M. J. Hulcant, Mr. Anthony Lambert and Mr. Don Connell.

Afternoon Tea At Wings' Club Attracts 125

POPULAR hospitality centre for service-men in the city, ever since its inception last fall, the Army, Navy and Wings Club has now evolved a new and friendly custom, of serving afternoon tea to service-men and their young lady friends who call at the club one Sunday afternoon a month.

This Sunday marked the beginning of this custom. Under the convenership of Mrs. G. D. K. Kinnaird, close to 125 service-men and their friends called at the club during the day.

Mrs. J. H. Morris was in charge of the register for the afternoon.

Tea was poured by Mrs. D. A. Kirkland, Mrs. Eva Matheson and Mrs. Norman Terwillegar. Mrs. Cardell had charge of the tea table. Junior hostesses for the afternoon were members of the R.C.A.F. Chapter I.O.D.E., and were under the charge of Mrs. Percival. Mrs. Stanley had charge of the canteen.

Merry Makers meeting on Tuesday at five p.m. in the clubroom for a model business meeting and supper.

Axis Subs Sink 18 More Allied Merchant Ships

By The Canadian Press

Axis submarines preying on shipping in the Atlantic have sunk 18 more United Nations vessels, it was officially reported last week, bringing the announced total of Allied sinkings in that area since Pearl Harbor to 175 ships.

Seven of the vessels announced last week were United States ships, two British, two Panamanian, two Norwegian, one Brazilian, one Dutch, one Nicaraguan, one Dominican and one Honduran.

Legal Notices—

TENDERS FOR COAL
Western Provinces.

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned and endorsed, "Tender for Coal for Western Provinces," will be received until 3:00 P.M. (E.D.S.T.), Tuesday, June 2, 1942, for the supply of coal for the Dominion Buildings and Experimental Farms and Stations throughout the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Forms of tender with specifications and conditions attached can be obtained from the Purchasing Agent, Department of Public Works, Ottawa; the District Resident Architect, Winnipeg, Man.; the District Resident Architect, Saskatoon, Sask.; the District Resident Architect, Calgary, Alta.; and the District Resident Architect, Victoria, B.C.

Tenders should be made on the forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with departmental specifications attached thereto. Coal dealers' licence numbers must be given when tendering.

The Department reserves the right to demand from any successful tenderer before awarding the order, a security deposit in the form of a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to 15 per cent of the amount of the tender, or Bearer Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or of the Canadian National Railway Company and its constituent companies unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by the Dominion of Canada, or the aforementioned bonds and a certified cheque, if required to make up an odd amount.

By order
H. M. SOMERVILLE,
Secretary
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, May 6, 1942.

Girl Is Killed When Thrown Off Horse

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

GRANDE PRAIRIE, May 11 — Thrown from her horse while on her way home from school with her younger sister Patsy last Friday, Darleen Delisle, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calex Delisle of the Bad Heart district, was almost instantly killed when her horse ran away and fell.

The fatal mishap occurred when the horse on which Darleen and Patsy were returning from school was frightened by a dog chasing a rabbit. The horse reared and both girls were thrown off. Patsy was not seriously injured.

Britain Reveals Names Of Units At Madagascar

LONDON, May 11. — (CP) — A military commentator today revealed the names of six regiments, batallions of which took part in last week's fighting among the Vichy naval base of Diego Suarez, on Madagascar.

The regiments were the Royal Scots Fusiliers, the South Lancashire Regiment, the East Lancashire Regiment, the Seaforth Highlanders, the Royal Welch Fusiliers, and the Northamptonshire Regiment.

There were also "some tanks, Special Service (Commando) troops and Royal Marines participating," he said.

35 Canuck Officers Listed As Prisoners At Hong Kong

OTTAWA, May 11.—(CP)—A government announcement issued last night listed the names of 35 Canadian officers who are stated to be prisoners of war at Hong Kong.

The list was based on a cable received from the British ambassador at Chungking, China, and another cable from Lt. Col. Ride at Kukong, China.

The announcement said the cables also mentioned about 640 other ranks but gave no names.

The government statement accompanying the list of names, said "Both cables would seem to be based on the same unofficial sources of information. The information in the embassy telegram was apparently secured through Col. Ride and is assumed to be based on the personal recollection of himself and others."

It added: "The omission of names therefore should not be construed as unfavorable."

UNCONFIRMED

The statement said: "The information in these two cables has not been confirmed by the Japanese government, the International Red Cross or through the protecting power. At the same time, it is also noted that the information relates only to 35 officers and about 640 other ranks in the one Named Camp at North Point.

"The Japanese government reported about Feb. 24. It stated there were 1,689 Canadian prisoners of war in Hong Kong. It is assumed, therefore, that others are in some other location."

The list of names, released from the prime minister's office, was made up of officers of the Winnipeg Grenadiers or of the headquarters staff, with one exception. The exception was Major John H. Price, of the Royal Rifles of Canada.

THE LIST

Winnipeg Grenadiers: Major Henry William Hook, Maj. John Albert Baillie, Maj. Kenneth George Baird, Maj. Ernest Hookinson, Capt. John Arthur Corrie, Capt. Edward B. Walker, Capt. Donald Grant Philip, Lieut. Ajall Odfigur Bardall, Capt. Alexander William Paterson, Capt. David Aaron Golden, Lieut. Frederick Victor Dennis, Lieut. Harry Leslie White, Lieut. John Edward Dundendale, Lieut. Richard W. Quinn-Hughes, Lieut. John E. Park, Lieut. James D. Movarthy, Lieut. Richard Maze, Lieut. Leonard B. Keegan, Lieut. Gerald Lorne Mercer, Lieut. Hugh Edward MacKechnie, Lieut. Ballou A. H. Campbell, Lieut. Alexander S. Slack, Lieut. William F. Murrell, Lieut. Kenneth Wilmie Philip, Lieut. Thomas A. Blackwood, George Pocock, auxiliary services (attached to Winnipeg Grenadiers).

Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps: Maj. John N. B. Crawford, Capt. Stanley M. Banfill, Capt. John A. G. Reid, Capt. Edward L. Scott, Capt. C. Gray.

Headquarters ("C" Force): Captain Urish Lalie.

Edmonton Cadet Injured In Crash

CALGARY, May 11 — (CP) — Twenty-seven members of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps escaped serious injury when a bus carrying them to Calgary from Sarcee overturned on the Sarcee road after swerving to avoid hitting three children playing in the road Saturday at 7 p.m.

William Clemis, Edmonton, one of the cadets of the University of Alberta battalion, is in Col. Belcher hospital suffering a number of cuts to the face. He is expected to be released from hospital today. Another member of the Corps had part of one ear severed, while several others received minor cuts and bruises.

Dispatches Report Division In Ranks Of Quisling Party

LONDON, May 11—(CP)—Reporters dispatches from Stockholm today reported a split in the ranks of Premier Vidkun Quisling's Norwegian-Nazi party, as a result of which several district leaders are said to have been deposed and sent to concentration camps.

The party organization is said to have undergone a thorough purge in Oslo, Rogaland, Sivanger and Haugesund districts.

Army Bombers Raided Tokyo U.S. Announces

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—The United States war department announced yesterday that the April 18 air attack on Tokyo and other Japanese cities was made in daylight by American army bombers. It said large fires were started which burned in some instances for two days or more.

From low altitudes, military, naval and industrial plants were bombed in the vicinity of Tokyo, Yokohama, Nagoya and other localities, a communique said.

"Selected targets were unmistakable and were accurately attacked with demolition and incendiary bombs," it added.

The communique was the first official acknowledgement here that United States planes had carried out the bold raid which apparently threw the Japanese into panic as well as doing great damage.

4,000 CASUALTIES

The communique quoted enemy radio reports that three Japanese interceptor planes had been lost and between 3,000 and 4,000 casualties inflicted, but failed to disclose from what bases the American planes operated or whether any were lost.

One bomber landed after the raid in a Russian maritime province and its crew was interned by the Soviet authorities.

American Troops Reported In Syria

LONDON, May 11. — (CP) — An Istanbul dispatch to the News Chronicle today said newsprinted there of the arrival of United States troops in Syria.

The brief dispatch, which gave little information on the source of the report, said the presence of the Americans "is likely to increase German nervousness over events in the Middle East."

No Gasoline For Stranded Drivers

OTTAWA, May 11.—(CP)—The Department of Munitions and Supply is waiting no sympathy on motorists who become stranded without gasoline after using up their ration coupons.

"If a motorist has run out of coupons and is stranded without gasoline, he will be allowed no gasoline whatever and must get his car removed from the roadway by a tow truck or by some other means," the department ruled last night.

But if the motorist still has coupons after running out of gas, he may call the nearest gasoline station and the station attendant will bring gasoline in a can, check the license number of the automobile against that on the coupons, then detach the coupon and deliver at least half a unit of gasoline.

Joe Weber Dead

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—(AP)—Joseph M. Weber, 74, of Weber and Fields, whose burlesque antics before the turn of the century made theatre audiences roar, died yesterday. Associates said he had not been the same since the death last July of his lifelong partner, Lew Fields.

Farmer Uses Gun To End His Life

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

BYEMOOR, Alta., May 11.—Platt Calvin, 42-year-old farmer of the Big Valley district, was found dead in a field near his home last week from a shotgun wound, which police report was self-inflicted. The death was investigated by the Stettler R.C.M.P. detachment, and no inquest will be held.

Calvin had been missing all day last Wednesday, and when a search was made his body was found. He leaves his widow but no children.

Schoolboys In Fine Concert At Empire Theatre

An enthusiastic audience that necessitated officials instituting a search for the "sold right out" sign, greeted the eleventh semi-annual concert by the Edmonton theatre on Saturday night. Included in the band were members of the Schoolboys' Band at the Empire bers of both the senior and junior schoolboys' bands and the Edmonton Air Cadet Band. T. V. Newlove, conductor of the senior band, was on the podium.

With more than 100 players, assisted by 10 snappy, high-stepping, baton-twirling majorettes, the band presented an impressive appearance. Playing to a decidedly friendly audience, the group was greeted with wave after wave of applause.

The program was lengthy but, despite this, interest was maintained until the end.

There were marches, medleys and other numbers on the program, while scattered through the whole were opportunities for solo work by various members of the band.

The playing of the band reflected infinite credit on the players and on Mr. Newlove and O. W. Murray, conductor of the junior band.

NUMBERS PLAYED

Among the numbers played were Standard of St. George march, Alford Festival overture, Leutner; Scotch medley, with Verne Elliot, Donald Baker, Donald Colter, William North and Frank Matthew as soloists; a novelty, The Wedding of Heinie and Kathrina, Alford; march, Light of Foot; march, Military Escort, Bennett; selection of Songs from the Old Folks, Lake, with Bandsmen Donald Tupper, Dan Monroe and George Nickoloff as soloists; waltz, Blue Moon, Riddle; Rose of Tralee, arranged by Mr. Newlove as a cornet solo and with Donald Tupper as soloist; march, Honor Band, Weber; march, Colonel Bogey; Fantasia on National Melodies, arranged by Mr. Newlove; hymn, Now the Day Is Over, arranged by Mr. Newlove, with J. Brown, D. McFarland, D. Colter and F. O'Hara as soloists; march, Our Director, and a medley of patriotic songs.

STANDARD BEARERS

Assisting in the last number were the following standard-bearers: Edmonton Fusiliers, G. Williams; Sea Cadets, B. Asaaly, M. Jack; R.C.A.S.C., G. Atkin, T. Greaves; Air Cadets, N. Bradshaw, J. A. Thorn and J. Porter.

The program, of the souvenir kind, contains the names of all band members, gives a history of the band and includes an Honor Roll of members who have joined the armed services.

The large, enthusiastic audience testifies to the popularity of the Schoolboys' Band. It is a deserving organization. It should prosper and with such a devoted, industrious bandmaster as Mr. Newlove, undoubtedly will progress to bigger and better things as time goes on.

Ryley Youth Dies: Struck By Tractor

Edward Maynard, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maynard, Ryley, was crushed to death under a tractor as it upset off the road near Tofield on Saturday.

Fred Maynard, the father, was also pinned beneath the machine, but was rescued and rushed to the Viking hospital. He is in a serious condition but is expected to recover.

According to a report from Constable James of the R.C.M.P. detachment at Tofield, Fred Maynard and his son were driving the tractor along the road toward Tofield, when the machine suddenly left the road and turned over into a ditch, filled with water. Edward was dead when rescuers arrived.

Sharp-Eyed Airman Identifies Huns

German "tourists" were giving Edmonton their "attention" before the war, according to a sharp-eyed airman from this city now serving overseas.

Sgt. A. G. E. Southall, air gunner with the R.C.A.F., now serving in Britain, recently identified three Germans heading for a British concentration camp as a trio that stayed at an Edmonton hotel where the air gunner worked as a "bellhop" in 1939. According to a letter to his parents here, the three Germans were spies.

The German "tourists" were staying at the hotel and Edward borrowed his father's car to drive the trio on a picnic tour of Elk Island Park one Sunday.

FATHER SUSPICIOUS

His father had remarked to his son at the time: "You are just driving around three German spies—you'll see."

Now Air Gunner Southall admits his dad was right.

Writing to his parents recently he told of seeing the three men again. They were being escorted to a concentration camp by a friend.

"You could have bowled me over with a feather when I identified them," wrote Sgt. Southall.

Sgt. Southall stated he did not learn just what the Germans were up to when rounded up in England.

When in Edmonton they carried expensive cameras.

Negotiations Church Fusion In Breakdown

Breakdown occurred in the plans for uniting the congregation of Garneau and Metropolitan United churches in South Edmonton, Sunday night, when votes cast by the two congregations showed one congregation in favor and the other opposed. Voting by both congregations took place at the week-end.

It had been originally agreed that in the event of one congregation voting against the proposal the plan would be discarded even though the total vote showed a majority in favor.

There were 178 votes cast by the Garneau congregation, with 87 in favor of union and 91 opposed.

The Metropolitan United church congregation, whose church was destroyed by fire on the morning of New Year's Day, voted three-to-one in favor of union with 295 voting for union and 106 making a negative vote.

Minister of Metropolitan church, Rev. R. McElroy Thompson stated Monday morning that there will be an official meeting of the church board this week, during which future plans for the congregation will be made.

Since their church was destroyed the members of Metropolitan church have been holding services and meetings at the Normal Practice school.

Storehouse Fire Delays Traffic

Traffic at the corner of 101 street and 104 avenue was delayed for about half an hour Sunday afternoon while firemen put out a fire in a storehouse at the rear of the St. Regis hotel.

The fire spread from an ash heap and worked its way through the wall of the storehouse, to ignite window screens stacked inside. Damage was slight.

Firemen from halls No. 2 and 5 responded and traffic was held up for about 30 minutes after lines of hose were spread across 101 street.

A play house at the rear of the home of Mrs. A. C. Pardy, 10642 116 street, was gutted by fire Saturday afternoon.

According to a report given city firemen by Mrs. Pardy's daughter, Betty, a playmate had left a candle burning in the playhouse. The playhouse was destroyed.

Remaining calls responded to during the weekend involved grass and bush fires. All were put out before damage was done.

Dangerous Driving Results In Fines

Heavy fines were imposed upon two drivers charged with dangerous driving. In both cases the car operators were involved in traffic accidents.

Edward Freeman was fined $50 and costs, and John Makowichuk had a fine of $60 and costs imposed upon him. In both cases the drivers were given an option of three months in jail in the event of default of payment of the fines.

Makowichuk also had his driver's license suspended for three months.

Only other convictions on Monday's police court docket were fines of $20 and costs imposed upon seven persons who pleaded guilty to drunk charges.

6 Trucks For Salvage Work Asked Of City

Request from the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the city to finance the purchase of six used trucks for handling salvage in Edmonton will be considered by the city council at its meeting Monday night. The trucks would not cost more than $4,000, and would be operated by the Alberta Women's Service Corps.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has been handling the National Salvage campaign in Edmonton. Under the proposal submitted to the city council the purchase of the trucks would be financed out of the sale of salvage.

Title to the trucks will be given to the city as security for any money advanced for their purchase.

VOLUNTEERS SCARCE

It is pointed out that salvage collection had been done through the use of volunteer trucks, but with rubber and gasoline restrictions it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain these volunteers

The city commissioners state that the city might well support the salvage campaign to the extent of financing this truck purchase, and point out that, under the most adverse circumstances, only a small loss on the transaction could be incurred.

Council will consider also four applications from Japanese wishing to take up residence in Edmonton, three of which were before the aldermanic board at its last meeting and were referred back to the commissioners for further report. The new application is from Taira Yasunaka, member of a large importing firm.

In bringing the four applications to council the commissioners report that "as far as can be learned, of the nine applications received, so far only three have taken advantage of the opportunity to come to Edmonton."

Council will be asked to accept the recommendation of R. G. Watson, power plant superintendent, that the tender of J. C. Haddow of $43,700 for construction of the clear-water basin at the power house be accepted.

Two other tenders were received for this work, that from Bennett and White of Edmonton, Ltd., being $46,088, and the Poole Construction Company Ltd., $53,850. Work on the basin construction will start immediately the letting of the tender is ratified by council.

Sunday Ban On Trucks Talked

Operation of heavy commercial trucks on Alberta highways on Sundays may be banned, it was indicated Monday. The Highway Traffic Board is now considering such an order to conserve gasoline and rubber, it was stated.

The order would apply to trucks having a carrying capacity of more than one ton if put into effect. The regulation would not apply to privately-owned trucks, including those operated by farmers, many of whom have no other means of conveyance.

This question was considered at a recent meeting of the Board.

Giraud Reported Arrested While En Route Lisbon

NEW YORK, May 11. — (AP) — The New York Times, quoting private advices, reported yesterday that Gen. Honore Giraud, French officer who escaped from the German fortress at Koenigstein last month, was arrested Saturday in Geneva, Switzerland, for travelling with false papers. The advices suggested Giraud might have been on his way to Lisbon.

Noted Pianist Scores Success In City Recital

Already a well established favorite here through a concert and master-class in piano playing and pedagogy last summer, Max Pirani, famous British-Australian pianist, further consolidated his position when he appeared in recital at the Masonic Temple on Saturday night under the auspices of the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Music Teachers' Association.

The hall was filled with an audience that drank deep of the rich musical draught provided by Mr. Pirani. At the conclusion of the final group he was given a prolonged ovation that necessitated his playing of four encores before he was enabled to get around to play the National Anthem.

Mr. Pirani is a pianist of consummate musicianship. He is equipped with a tremendous technique.

WIDE EXPERIENCE

His wide experience as a public performer, teacher and analyst, has provided a musical background that enables him to penetrate to the depths of the compositions being performed, to dissect the sentences and phrases, and then unite them into his interpretation of the composition as a whole.

There is a wide variety of dynamics in his playing. He has ample volume and yet there is delicacy, grace and refinement when the occasion demands. His chording, balance of the component notes of the chords, the delineation of the melodic contour, all testified to his pianistic skill and mature musicianship.

COVERS WIDE RANGE

His program touched on works from Bach to contemporary writers. He opened with Bach's Fantasia in C Minor and followed this with Three Sonatas by Scarlatti, in C Major, D Minor and F Minor respectively.

Next came Cesar Franck's Prelude, Choral and Fugue. This was followed by a Chopin group, Barcarolle, Berceuse and the widely popular Ponolaise in A Flat.

The final group included Rachmaninoff's Prelude in G Major the Bizet-Rachmaninoff Minuet; Debussy's Reflections in the Water and Dance and Lenox Berkeley's Polka, which had been heard in its orchestral version on a symphony program from New York earlier in the week.

Malta Defenders Bag 41 Aircraft

VALETTA, May 11. — (CP) — Forty-one enemy aircraft were destroyed or damaged in raids on Malta Saturday night and yesterday, it was announced last night.

Thirty-three of the total were bombers. Eight were fighters. Of the bombers 12 were destroyed, 10 probably destroyed and 11 damaged. One fighter was destroyed, two probably destroyed and five were damaged.

There was heavy fighting over the island almost continuously. An official report last night showed that as a result of air raids, 75 per cent of the property of Valetta is uninhabitable. Malta's property losses include 15,500 homes, 70 churches, 22 schools, 18 convents and eight hospitals.

School Head Urges Greater Volume Help

It is imperative that the provincial and Dominion governments should contribute more generously toward providing educational facilities, Ross S. Sheppard, M.A., superintendent of schools, Edmonton, told members of the Edmonton Kiwanis Club at their regular luncheon meeting at the Macdonald hotel, Monday. J. A. Christiansen, Kiwanis president, was chairman.

Mr. Sheppard spoke on "Education and Economic Well-Being". He used comparative figures to show that education increases the earning power of the individual and thus in turn increases the wealth of the community, the province and the nation.

In the depression period, from 1928 to 1933, a survey involving 46,000 graduates from 31 American universities, revealed that 95 per cent of the men and 83 per cent of the women were employed, Mr. Sheppard stated. He further indicated that less than six per cent of those on relief during the depression years were skilled men and more than 65 per cent were unskilled.

REQUIRE EDUCATION

All trades, industries and professions require educated persons. Agriculture calls for more educated persons now than ever before, Mr. Sheppard stated.

In referring to the importance to a nation of medical men, Mr. Sheppard quoted a statement made recently by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of pensions and health, revealing that Canada spends $250,000,000 yearly for sickness, and that 50,000 workers are absent each day due to sickness.

In Edmonton, 18,000 pupils are being groomed yearly in acquiring character education and scientific knowledge, a combination of educational objectives that will be the prime factor in evolving a successful post-war era, he said.

To this end it is imperative that municipal, provincial and Dominion authorities contribute generously toward educational facilities, he added.

The new era will belong to those who learn to work together intelligently and happily without exploiting the nation's natural resources and the country's submerged races, Mr. Sheppard predicted.

Wheat Seeding Is Now General This Province

Wheat seeding is general throughout Alberta and some coarse grains have been sown, according to the first crop report of the Bank of Montreal this season.

The report shows that moisture conditions generally are considered adequate to insure germination but subsoil reserves are deficient over large areas. Early estimates indicate the wheat acreage at approximately the same as last year, with fairly substantial increases in oat, barley and flax crop acreages. Sugar beet seeding is well advanced.

In Saskatchewan heavy general rains are reported, and the wheat acreage is expected to about equal 1941, with increased acreage of coarse grains. Due to wet weather, operations in Manitoba are about 10 days later than normal and the amount of seeding completed is negligible.

In general throughout the prairie provinces, field operations have been delayed by weather conditions, and are about ten days later than normal. Moisture reserves are satisfactory in Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan but low elsewhere, with early rains needed in Alberta.

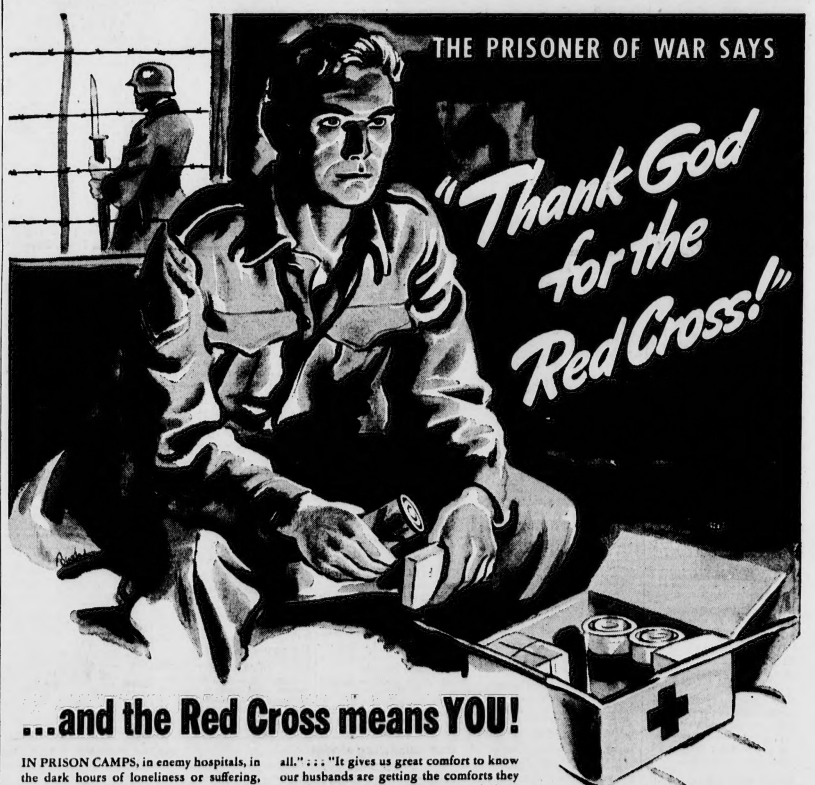
THE PRISONER OF WAR SAYS



...and the Red Cross means YOU!

IN PRISON CAMPS, in enemy hospitals, in the dark hours of loneliness or suffering, men voice that cry.

"We are getting one food parcel per week and 50 cigs. from the Red Cross." . . "These parcels enable us to enjoy home comforts and keep up health and spirits." So they write.

And what of the relatives? "I feel so happy to think of your kindness to my poor boy, in a prison camp for two years. God bless you all." . . . "It gives us great comfort to know our husbands are getting the comforts they need." . . . "When we got your card about our brother, we felt as though the sun suddenly shone."

More than a million parcels have been sent up to now, to prisoners of war. YOUR money makes the work of the Red Cross possible. The need is great—and GROWING. You never have failed them—you will not fail them now. Open your heart and your purse strings—Give Generously.

Man In Her Heart

By Rob Eden

ANNE LAURIE, reared at race tracks by her lovable father, TIM LAURIE, left the track at 18 to join her maiden aunt who disapproved of the life she was leading. Now a commercial artist, she has returned to the track because her father is ill. She dislikes RUSTY WALTON, whose stable is next to hers on "poverty row," and distrusts BID SHORE, who is operating her stable of four horses, Mister Pound, Countess Q, Moon Jade and Kokoa. She is delighted to find her old friend, DOC BURGESS. CEPHUS LINCOLN is their aged Negro stable boy. Countess Q wins a race, paying Anne's bet of $100 off at $1.180. Rusty tells her the race was crooked. When she gets to the bottom of the deal, she discharges Shore and starts for the steward's office to return Unable to dissuade Anne, Rusty, admiring her spunk, goes with her. The steward questions the jockeys. He finds only the race was crooked and Anne refuses the money. Anne is impressed by Pat Barnes, reporter, who asks her for a date. Unable to find a reliable trainer, she decides to carry on with the aid of Old Burgess. Anne takes Kokoa out to warm him up around the track, and finding Brenda Van Evera clad in a formal in trouble on her horse, sets out to the rescue. Anne saves the girl and Brenda, grateful, offers to buy Miss Jade for $10,000. Anne refuses, offers Kokoa but Brenda doesn't want him. She invites Anne to her home for a party. Pat Barnes takes Anne to the magnificent home. She leaves early and arrives at the track at dawn to find Doc working over Rusty's horse. Red Cloud, who broke his ankle against the stall during the night. Unable to reach Rusty by phone, she drives to the Van Evera where she finds Rusty still in the party. He returns to the stable with Anne. Forced to shoot Red Cloud, Rusty decides to accept a job as trainer for the Van Evera stables.

CHAPTER XVII

ON THE advice of Cephus, Anne didn't work her horses after Rusty's staggering loss, although that had nothing to do with it.

"They're in pretty good shape, Miz Anne," the aged darky said, "an' you don' wanna overdo. Jest lemme walk 'em around today 'bout an hour each, an' that'll keep 'em fit."

So she left Moon Jade, Kokoa and Countess Q in his care, and went home. After all the excitement of the night and the early morning she was certain she couldn't sleep, but she went to bed anyway and almost instantly dropped into a state of unconsciousness from which she didn't awaken until late in the afternoon.

When she arrived back at the stables, Cephus already had bedded her animals down for the night and reported they were in excellent condition.

"One good race jest about a week befoah the big one, an' Moon Jade'll be ready to fly," was his opinion.

"Anything happen today?" she asked.

RUSTY MOVED OUT

"Mistah Rusty done moved his hosses out, an' we gotta new neighbor."

"Rusty's gone?"

"Yassam. Come 'round 'bout noon an' got his stuff."

Anne had a sinking feeling in her stomach. Rusty had meant it, then—he had accepted Van Evera's offer immediately and moved to the more aristocratic section of the stables.

She was sorry to see him leave Poverty Row, even though she knew it probably was best for him. With Van Evers he'd get a good salary and a share of the purses, and he wouldn't have to worry very much whether his own horses won many races or not.

He had a swell horse to train for the big race, and knowing Rusty as she did, she was certain that he'd work as hard to land Sky Writer in the winner's circle as he would his own filly if Red Cloud had lived.

Regardless of his other qualities, she had come to realize that Doc Burgess was not exaggerating when he said Rusty was strictly honest.

"Who's moved in?" she asked Cephus.

"Ah was talkin' to one o' his boys, an' he says he's a Mistah Count. Got half a dozen hosses, but Ah don' know wheah he comes frum. Ah nevah heerd o' him."

Anne strolled across to see if the new owner was around. Might as well be friendly, if he were going to be a neighbor. She was looking idly about, when a man emerged from the tack room at the end of the stable and walked toward her.

"Looking for someone, Miss?" he asked.

Anne turned.

"I'm Anne Laurie," she said. "I have the adjoining stables, and I was looking for Mr. Count. I understand he's my new neighbor. Do you know him?"

DICK COUNT

The girl looked him over carefully, and almost instantly decided she didn't like him. He was neatly dressed, a trifle on the flashy side, and his hat, as he swept it from his head in acknowledgement of the introduction, revealed shiny black patent leather hair.

His smile, which verged on being a smirk," revealed startlingly white teeth beneath a small, well waxed black mustache.

He was a small man, not much taller than she, and while she had never been in a gambling joint in her life, she had a feeling that he was the sort of person she would see if she ever visited one.

"Anything I can do for you?" Count asked, carefully replacing the brown homburg on his head.

"No, thanks. I just heard you'd moved into Rusty Walton's stables and thought I'd get acquainted. Where have you been running?"

"Well, as a matter of fact, this end of the business is rather new to me," Count answered. "I've followed the ponies for years, but this is the first time I've owned a string of my own."

"You've probably got some surprises in store, then," Anne remarked, with a smile. "It's a pretty tough game unless you have plenty of capital to tide you over the rough spots. How many horses have you?"

"Four, but I'm in the market for more. I took over Tony Ricco's nags."

"Anything wrong with that?" Count demanded.

"Why—why, no, not that I know of. I thought Ricco and his horses were barred from the track for good after the crooked stunt he and Sid Shore pulled."

"How do you know it was crooked? All you had was suspicion, and you went off half cocked and made a lot of wild talk. A racetrack's no place for Girl Scouts, anyway."

"I don't care to have anything to do with anyone who's a friend of Ricco or Shore," she said.

"Maybe you'd be interested in making a deal with me?"

"I'm quite sure I wouldn't."

SELL MOON JADE

"You got a pretty good nag in that Moon Jade. How about selling him?"

"He's not for sale, Mr. Count."

"Aw, come on now. You aren't in business for your health. Suppose I wave a check for ten grand under your nose?"

"I told you, he's not for sale—not at any price. I've refused a much better offer already."

Count's face reflected amazement.

"You mean you turned down real dough for that goat?"

Foundations Of Society Rest On Home, Sunday Congregation Told

Most worthwhile thing in the world and the only thing by which society will survive is the Christian home, Rev. J. MacBeath Miller declared Sunday at a Mother's Day service at First Presbyterian church.

"The authority of the home is not in a person, but in the will of God," he said, "and the objective for our children is not that they be successful but that they be Christian."

Of late, he said, the facts have been inverted and now practically everything militates against family life, but a pattern must be evolved whereby family life is provided with space and security for long-term preservation of homes, time for the building of a common home, spirit, and suitable circumstances for children and proper responsibility on the part of all.

WORTHWHILE LIFE

Human life will always survive in some form, but it must be in a worthwhile form, the minister declared. There must be an end to the crises, war and insecurity that mock at the permanence of families.

"We can be the determining factor in the future basis of our country, if we ensure the permanence of the Christian home, and the family, which are linked to the soil. Changes must occur," he said, "and we must be prepared to make sacrifices and pay the price of an enduring society."

Public sentiment condemns the man who does not do his duty to the best of his ability, and in the same way public sentiment condemns those who do not regard the Christian home and family as one of the most vital essentials of life, he said.

Anglican bishop of Athabasca, Rt. Rev. A. H. Sovereign, spoke at the morning service at Christ Church and at the evening service at All Saints' cathedral.

SPECIAL SERVICE

At Robertson United Church a special service was conducted in the evening, when 300 student and staff nurses of the four Edmonton hospitals attended, dressed in uniform. Also attending were 100 members of the Victorian Order of Nurses, the Overseas Nursing Sisters' Association, public health nurses and the Army and Air Force Nursing Sisters. The service was arranged in conjunction with similar ones held in other Canadian centres.
